

COUNCIL FIXES CITY TAX RATE AT $35

CAPITAL BUSY WEEK BEFORE NEW SESSION

Senate Control Practically in Hands of Progressive Faction
FLOODS GREAT ISSUE
Business Interests Oppose Government Ownership of Water Power

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—Congress might just as well be in session judging by the activity going on here a full week in advance of the opening. Not since 1911 when the Democrats, who won the 1910 election, took charge of the lower house has there been as much excitement. This is partly due to the fact that the senate is virtually a tie as between the major parties and the progressive hold the balance of power. But it is also due to the large number of issues which have caught the attention of the public. All this would be interesting by itself were it not for presidential nominating conventions a few months hence but the coming campaign will have a powerful influence on the course of events.

Gathered in the foyer, so to speak, ready for the raising of the curtain are powerful groups of American businessmen, men on the one hand of prevailing unfavorable legislation and urging on the other hand protection or relief as the case may be.

FLOODS GREAT PROBLEM
Dominating the whole situation to a remarkable extent is the flood problem. The far west with its fear of a flood in the Imperial Valley, the Mississippi valley alert that no delay shall be encountered this time and the New England aware now of what their dangers may be from overflowing rivers—all these elements combine naturally to give flood control right of way. Memories of the recent disaster are fresh in the minds of returning members of congress.

Wrapped up in the flood question is that of water power uses and the development of inland waterways. Problems of government ownership or operation of water power have been debated for years but never have they

CUDAHY CITIZENS RIOT AT SCHOOL GATHERING LILLIENDAHL SLAIN WITHOUT WARNING

TWO KNOCKED OUT AS FISTS FLY AT HALL

Chairman Down and Out When He Rules Board Head Out of Order

Milwaukee (AP)—Cudahy citizens Tuesday were nursing wounds of war—some chins and bruised fists—while peacekeepers sought to prevent a recurrence of the fracas which Monday night turned part of the community into a battleground, lacking only poison gas and rammant.

In a hall meant for 500 persons, 1,000 rioted as they attended a meeting called by John Schrank, clerk of the school board, to get an expression of opinion opposing the action which discharged Edward C. Seifert, superintendent of schools, Nov. 2.

Two knockouts, numerous bruises and torn "Sunday best" clothes composed the toll of the battle. A right jab sent Mrs. William O'Dell, wife of a former school board chairman, down for the count, and a left hook put C. B. Ames, original chairman of the meeting, out for much more than the required ten. The only thing lacking was a referee, some of the visitors at the meeting commented.

BOARD HAS ADVANTAGE
But the meeting resulted, at least temporarily, in a victory for the school board which ousted Seifert. A motion was presented commending the board for removing the superintendent, and Paul Miller, chairman of the board, declared it carried after the group had roared its favor or disfavor. A motion for adjournment since he was also declared passed, and was, as Mr. Miller said, "an adjournment without an ending."

When C. B. Ames, chairman of the meeting and leader of the pro-Seifert movement, ruled Paul Miller out of order as he stepped on the stage, some one promptly sent a left hook to Ames' chin and he dropped.

Immediately the hall was in an uproar, with fighters, policemen and struggling opponents mixing together among the seats, on the stage and in the narrow aisles. Chairs, gavel and everything else in sight that was movable were used as weapons.

A minute or two later, after partial order had been restored, the fighting started again when Vernon Estes, a member of the committee headed by Mr. Ames, attempted to address the meeting. In a wild melee, he was carried from the hall by his opponents.

The turning out of the lights in the auditorium caused a temporary cessation of hostilities, but some of the more pugnacious adjourned to the yard, where they continued their fisty arguments.

Words succeeded fists Tuesday morning, when the temporary injunction restraining board from dismissing Seifert, is returnable in district court.

TESTIMONY OF DOCTORS BLOW TO HIS WIDOW

Prosecution Attempts to Break Down Story About Negro Slayers

Court Room, Mays Landing, N. J.—(AP)—Dead men tell no tales but the rigid faces are veritable diagrams of the manner in which they died, two doctors testified at the Lilliendahl murder trial Tuesday. The bullet-punctured face of Dr. A. William Lilliendahl, they said, indicated that he had stumbled on death, that it had come swiftly and unexpectedly, that he passed from life before any emotion could register on his face.

The witnesses were Dr. Edward Burt, coroner, and Dr. Lewis Soudier, the physician who performed the autopsy. Both said the victim's face was in perfect repose, showing no signs of fear, fright or any strong emotion.

The witnesses said that in cases of sudden death emotions showing on the face at the time were "carried over" into death. This testimony was adduced by the state to break down the defense of the victim's widow, who with Willis Beach is charged with the murder, that the killing was done by two Negroes.

Mrs. Lilliendahl asserted that the Negroes forced her to drive into a lull, attacked her and then shot her husband. The state contends that if such had been the case, some signs of emotion would have been found "frozen" on the victim's face.

The torn stockings worn by Mrs. Lilliendahl as she ran from the scene of her husband's killing were subsequently further slashed for some unknown purpose, a witness testified Tuesday.

Mrs. Stella Carr, an employee of the state police who removed the widow's stockings on the day of the crime, identified them in court, but acknowledged that they were not so badly torn when she first saw them.

ALGERIAN FLOOD TOLL MAY BE MORE THAN 500

Oran, Algeria—(AP)—With every hour bringing fresh tidings of disaster it was estimated Tuesday that the total loss of life in the floods which swept northwestern Algeria would exceed 500. The catastrophe is the worst experienced here in 50 years.

The situation throughout the district is still grave. The weather is bad. The water, while receding in some places, is rising in others. A torrential rainfall continues. Communications have been cut everywhere. Rescue work is thus extremely difficult. Efforts have been made to drop food from airplanes to life stricken villages of the countryside.

WITNESS SAYS HE SAW DODGE AT REMUS HOME

Caretaker Describes Visits of Prohibition Officer With Slain Woman

Cincinnati, Ohio—(AP)—The first of the scandalous tales George Remus pleads drove him insane was related from the witness stand in his murder trial for homicide Tuesday.

It came in by virtue of a ruling of Judge Chester R. Shook that evidence of a diseased mind in Remus having been established by the testimony of lay witnesses, the causes for the insanity might be recited.

For the first time the names of Franklin L. Dodge, Jr., former department of justice agent, and the woman Remus shot to death, his estranged second wife, Irene, were mentioned together from the witness stand.

Three times they were seen together at the Remus home in the absence of Remus, ran the story, and upon two of the occasions Dodge tried to drive his identity. Twice Dodge was driving expensive automobiles owned by the man he had caused to be sent to the penitentiary for violation of the prohibition law, said the testimony.

SAW DODGE AT HOME
"Did you ever see Franklin L. Dodge at the Remus home?" Charles R. Elston, co-counsel with the defendant, who acts as his own attorney, asked of William Mueller, the day's opening witness.

"Yes, sir, I did," responded Mueller. Mueller, for the last eight years caretaker at the Remus $75,000 mansion here, was making his fourth appearance down the witness box.

"When?" Elston asked.

"Aug. 1, 1926, a Sunday," Mueller started off.

"I came up and Dodge was there in Mr. Remus' automobile. He ran around the car and leaned over like this," Mueller folded his arms on the witness box railing and concealed his face.

"Mrs. Smith of Columbus, and her son were there," said Mueller.

"What did you do?"

"I just took a good look," Mueller admitted that upon that occasion he had seen Mrs. Remus two and one half hours later.

"Any other occasion?" demanded Elston.

"Yes, I saw Dodge from the outside of the house and he drew the shades down before my face."

"Who else was there?"

"Mrs. Remus."

"When was the next time?"

"In the latter part of December, 1926. They had two cars there ready to drive away. Mrs. Remus drew my attention and called me back into the house."

Badger Cinderella Tells Of Visit To "Fairyland"

Janesville—(AP)—A modern Cinderella who outdid the fairy tale by living for a month in a veritable fairyland provided by her "Prince," Tuesday contemplated a future made golden by the generosity of her benefactor.

The girl is 17-year-old Jean Buchanan, whose quiet life with three sisters and a widowed mother in this city of 22,000 was interrupted this fall by a visit to London, England, as the guest of her grand uncle, Baron Woolavington.

Accompanied by her elder sister, Catherine, Jean crossed the ocean for a visit that ended three weeks ago. Not for a day, as the old legend goes, but for a month the modern Cinderella lived in a baronial mansion.

The pumpkins turned not into coaches but a limousine with two chauffeurs. There were ball rooms and theatres but no glass slippers and there was no necessity for returning home at midnight for the riches of their grand uncle assured them of uninterrupted enjoyment.

Of their sojourn in this fairyland, Jean spoke Monday in an exclusive interview with the Janesville Gazette, the first she has given since returning.

INCREASE OF $5 OVER LEVY OF YEAR AGO

More Than Million Dollars Must Be Poured into Treasury in January
MORE LOANS NECESSARY
Council Sees Necessity of Borrowing $100,000 to Carry on Next Year

Taxpayers of Appleton will pay taxes at the rate of $35 on each $1,000 of assessed valuation of their property when they visit the city treasurer next January. It was decided by the common council meeting in the committee of the whole Monday evening. This rate is an increase of $5 over last year and will raise approximately $1,078,800, not enough to pay all the bills which the city will be called upon to meet before the end of the next year.

The tax rate for general city purposes will be $11.40, an increase of $5.56 over last year's rate, and this rate will raise approximately $552,000, on an assessed valuation of $48,000, or about $118,000 more than was raised last year. Revenues for general city purposes will be increased by about $250,000 which is the estimated income from the city's share of the income tax, estimated tax to be paid by public utilities and estimated income from other sources during the year. The total amount available for all general city purposes, but excluding schools and county and state taxes, will be in the neighborhood of $625,000, and an estimated cost of operating the city next year, including the repayment of $196,000 to banks, which was borrowed in 1927 is $508,312.

$50,000 FOR VIADUCT
The total estimate for operating the city, not including repayment of bank loans, is about $612,000 but this includes $50,000 for the proposed viaduct on E. Wisconsin-ave and for another improvements which the council is hopeful that it will not have to make next year.

If it is necessary to make these improvements the council expects that by borrowing $100,000 from the banks later in the year it will be able to get through but if it is necessary to start work on the viaduct and if other large expenditures are necessary the loans will be larger.

Money borrowed from the banks will be repaid as soon as possible as the taxes are collected and no more loans will be made until they are required, probably in August or September.

A tax collection sufficient to pay off all the obligations of the city and to carry on work proposed for next year would have required a tax rate of well over $40 per thousand dollars of assessed valuation, and it was decided to reduce the bank loans by a smaller sum. Most of the loans were made in order to refund bank stock taxes in the banks following a supreme court decision that these taxes were illegal.

LESS COUNTY TAX
The county and state tax, which also includes an item of $27,318.75 for common schools, aggregates $221,629.13, a decrease of about $2,587 and the rate for county and state purposes is $9.50 per thousand as compared with $10.86 a year ago. The $27,318.75 collected by the city treasurer as a common school tax eventually is returned to Appleton schools.

Taxes for high school and other school purposes are approximately $62,574.30 more than last year. The total sum to be raised is $424,621.25 which includes the cost of operating.

GOVERNOR TO GET PLUMMER CHARGES

Assistant District Attorney Takes Copies of Testimony to Madison

Oshkosh—(AP)—A document charging Sheriff Walter Plummer with accepting bribes, malfeasance and official misconduct, and asking his removal from office, was filed with Governor Fred Zimmerman Tuesday. Charges which were accompanied by many pages of testimony, taken under John Doe proceedings, were handed to the chief executive at Waupun by Assistant District Attorney Walter Patri. Mr. Patri, with Motorcycle Officer F. Bradley left for Madison at 5 o'clock intending to file charges with governor at capitol. Enroute, however, they saw Governor Zimmerman as he was entering the state prison to make an inspection.

WAUKESHA-CO BOARD REBUKES OLE STOLEN

Waukesha—(AP)—State Humane Officer Ole A. Stolen, Madison, was severely rebuked for his appointment of Mrs. Alice Drewry George to succeed Mrs. Florence George, county humane agent, in a resolution adopted by the Waukesha-co board Tuesday. The board in its resolution said it would have favored the reappointment of Mrs. Florence George.

In explaining his new appointment, Mr. Stolen wrote that he had sounded out the sentiment of the county supervisors and after consultations had concluded that unless another woman were appointed the board would not make the $1,200 appropriation necessary to carry on the work, according to Mrs. Florence George.

The supervisors unanimously stated that they had been consulted by Stolen and that the appointment came as a surprise to them. According to the resolution, "The board would have made the appropriation if Mrs. Florence George had been appointed."

BAR PRISON DOORS TO NOTED ALIENIST

Mrs. Snyder Can't Be Examined by Outside Official, Warden Rules

New York—(AP)—Efforts of counsel for Mrs. Ruth Snyder to save her from execution by medical testimony similar to that given in the Leopold and Loeb case ran against a snag Tuesday.

Dr. C. A. Nymann, who testified in the celebrated Chicago case and was summoned here by Edgar J. Hazleton, Mrs. Snyder's counsel, cannot examine her in Sing Sing prison.

Warden Lewis E. Lewis and Raymond F. C. Kieb, state commissioner of correction, said that only authorized officials are allowed to examine prisoners awaiting the death penalty in Sing Sing.

Following up another avenue of hope, Joseph L. Lando of Mrs. Snyder's defense staff, is searching the files of the court of appeals in an effort to find precedent for the consideration by the court of the alleged hostile "atmosphere" prevailing at the Queens-co trial. The court has refused once to accept a memorandum on that point on the ground that the evidence failed to show such a condition existed.

PLAN APPEAL

His statement followed a conference with Attorney-General Tamm, assistant attorney-general Herbert H. Jaucho, and special assistant T. T. Jackson.

He said:

"We are in excellent position to press before the United States Supreme court every point of law which the lake states have all along insisted upon in the pending suit against the Sanitary District of Chicago. The attorneys general of the other complainant states have been conferred with, and it is planned to hold a meeting very soon to formulate exceptions to the findings of the special master, and to prepare for presentation of the case before the Supreme Court."

Mr. Ekern directed attention to conclusions of the Special Master as set out in the full report:

"I find that the full effect of a diversion of 8,500 c. f. s. of water from Lake Michigan at Chicago through the drainage canal of the Sanitary District would be to lower the levels of Lakes Michigan and Huron approximately six inches at mean lake levels. . . . that an increase of the diversion at Chicago above 8,500 c. f. s. would cause an additional lowering . . . in proportion to the amounts above stated. Thus a diversion of an additional 1,500 c. f. s. or a total diversion of 10,000 c. f. s. would cause . . ."

COOLIDGE TO HELP PICK G. O. P. CONVENTION CITY

Washington—(AP)—President Coolidge will receive the members of the Republican National committee during their meeting here to select a convention city next week and will make an informal address to them in the east room of the White House.

The announcement of the president's intention to say a few words was not coupled with any indication as to whether they would have a political significance or throw any new light on Mr. Coolidge's own political future. A coincident with the announcement it was stated that the president had absolutely no choice in the matter of selecting a convention city.

SEE MURDER AND SUICIDE IN TRAGEDY AT SUPERIOR

Superior—(AP)—The bodies of Julia Salmi, 22, Forbes, Minn., and Christ Olson, 25, believed to be from Detroit, were found Tuesday morning in the girl's room in a local rooming house. A revolver was lying between the bodies.

Police believe the man killed the girl and then shot himself. No motive other than jealousy could be advanced, they said. The girl was shot behind the right ear. The man had evidently then placed the barrel of the revolver in his mouth and pulled the trigger.

Little is known of the girl, who came here about four months ago from Forbes, Minn., where her parents live. She was quiet and did not go out much. Mrs. Minnie Mattilda, landlady, said she told Mrs. Mattilda of a sweetheart whom she expected from Detroit. The man who, neither believe, is the sweetheart from Detroit, visited her early Monday evening and stayed the night. Mrs. Mattilda said.

DRY AGENT TALKS TOO MUCH SO HE'S DROPPED

Madison—(AP)—George Ostrom, Superior, discharged as state dry agent by Roland Dixon, state prohibition commissioner, by letter Saturday, was dismissed for inefficiency and talked too much. Mr. Dixon said Tuesday. Ostrom has complained that he was released from connection with the state dry force because he "avoided red tape."

Commissioner Dixon said Tuesday that "twice he considers avoiding red tape we would call neglect of duties and insubordination." He said that Ostrom was "the kind of officer who would walk past a soft drink parlor where liquor was being sold illegally and go out into the woods to arrest a man operating a still. We want them both arrested."

SINCLAIR GETS PAPERS IN CONTEMPT ACTION

New York—(AP)—Harry F. Sinclair Tuesday was served with a citation for criminal contempt of court in connection with the Fair-Sinclair jury surveillance charges.

60 BOSTON POLICE QUELL RIOT AFTER STORMING BUILDING

Boston—(AP)—A gun battle between 60 policemen, who besieged a south end house and its four inhabitants for hours ended at daybreak Tuesday when riot squads stormed the building and dragged out two Negroes and two women, one of whom was white. Scores of shots were fired. Four bombs were used. One Negro was wounded seriously. The siege threw a thickly settled district, inhabited largely by Negroes, into an uproar.

Those arrested were: Robert Polite, 42, and his wife, 30, Negroes; a man named Brooks, who had two bullet wounds in his neck and who is in a serious condition, and a white woman who said she was Alice Lillian J. Coyne of Brookline.

Three policemen were taken to a hospital with Brooks, unconscious from the fumes of tear bombs which made adjoining buildings uninhabitable for hours. Mrs. Polite was suffering severe injuries, which she said were inflicted by her husband. The other members of the party were variously battered.

ONE KILLED, 15 INJURED IN OHIO TRAIN ACCIDENT

Dayton, O.—(AP)—One man was killed and 15 persons were injured, some seriously, when a Day train passenger and freight train collided at a street crossing Tuesday morning. The driver and four passengers of the passenger train were derailed. The driver and one passenger and two engine and two cars on the freight train were overturned.

The dead man is Michael Sullivan, 50, of 44 Manning-st. Bedford, Mass. Sullivan died a few moments after he was received at El Elizabeth Hospital. His skull was crushed.

BUILDING SKELETON FALLS: 12 ARE HURT

Chicago—(AP)—The steel skeleton of a building under construction at Twenty-fourth-st. and Dearborn-ave. collapsed during a stormy rain and wind electrical storm at 11:30 Monday, injuring 12 persons seriously, including two women. Two of the injured were women who had sought shelter from the storm in a construction building. The building was equipped with a falling shield. The two women were killed when a girder fell across the automobile in which they were riding.

One man, Frank, was on the north end of the building and was killed by a falling girder struck the machine, injuring its driver.

WRONG MAN! EXCUSE US, GUNMAN BEGS OF VICTIM OF MISTAKE

Chicago—(AP)—Being shot by mistake is just as painful as being shot on purpose, Henry Keller says. Keller, a night watchman, was walking out of a S. State-st. restaurant Monday night when a shot struck his leg. Falling to the sidewalk, he looked up to see a man and a pretty woman standing over him, a smoking weapon in the man's hand.

"My goodness, that isn't the man," the woman exclaimed.

"Excuse us," said the man, and the couple fled.

League Will Attempt To Quiet Lithuanian Issue

Geneva—(AP)—With European statesmen intent on preventing the controversy between Poland and Lithuania reaching a point which would disturb the peace of Europe, delegates of 24 countries will attend the fourth session of the preparatory commission for the World's disarmament conference which opens here Wednesday under the auspices of the League of Nations.

Maxim Litvinoff, head of the Russian delegation, is reported to propose pacts of non-aggression, not only with nations bordering on Russia, but also with Great Britain and the United States. The Soviet government will participate in the conference as a non-member of the league. The United States is the only other non-member participating.

Lithuania's case against Poland is specifically the alleged mistreatment of Lithuanian clergy and the closing of Lithuanian schools in the Vilna district. To this complaint Premier

FARMER INTERESTED IN LOWER FREIGHT RATES

Minneapolis—(AP)—Declining agricultural values of recent years have strengthened the interest of Minnesota farmers in the proposed cut of 20 cent per ton on Great Lakes freight rates on coal. J. F. Reed, St. Paul, president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation, testified at the opening of an interstate commerce commission hearing Tuesday on the subject of the reduction.

Citing the short crops since 1921, J. F. Reed said the farmers not only were interested in having present coal prices reduced but also in averting an increase which might follow an adverse decision in this case.

The case, first opened at Washington to hear Pennsylvania and Ohio mine operators fighting the proposed reduction, attracted about 150 persons to the opening session. The state governments of Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Wisconsin leading in the northeast movement for the price slash, have large delegations present.

Waldemar of Lithuania, Has Added Another—that Poland seeks to bring about the overthrow of the Kovno government.

In Kovno the Lithuanian premier complained bitterly of what he termed "intimidatory and provocative actions" by Poland on the present line of demarcation, which, he said, Lithuania today will dignify by the name of frontier.

The Polish attitude toward Lithuania was defined in a note presented by Polish ministers in all European capitals, including Moscow. The note declared that Poland's sole aim was "to establish normal relations of good neighborhood."

Extraordinary police precautions are being taken for both the disarmament and league council meetings. Non-members have been obliged to attach photographs to their admission cards, no automobiles are allowed to park in the league courtyard and detectives watch about the Russian delegation headquarters.

IMPORTANT FACTS ABOUT THE NEW FORD CAR

Complete details of the new model will be available this FRIDAY in this city

FRIDAY of this week will unquestionably be one of the most important days in the entire life of the automobile industry. On that day, complete details of the new Ford will be available in this city.

You will be surprised when you get the facts about the new Ford car, for you never have dreamed that such a really fine car could be produced at a low price. As Henry Ford himself says—

"The new Ford car embodies the best results of our experience in making 15,000,000 automobiles. We consider it our most important contribution thus far to the progress of the motor industry, to the prosperity of the country, and to the daily welfare of millions of people."

The new Ford car is distinctly a new and modern car, designed to meet new and modern conditions. It is more than a new automobile. It is the advanced expression of a wholly new idea in modern, economical transportation.

An entirely new car in every respect

The minute you see it—ride in it—you will realize that it is not a mere refinement of the former model T Ford, but a new car from radiator cap to rear axle! Many features of it are exclusive Ford developments. Some are wholly new in automobile practice. There is nothing quite like it in quality and price.

The new Ford car has unusual beauty of line and color. . . . It has a 40-horse-power engine. . . . It will do 55 and 60 miles an hour with ease and has actually run 65 miles an hour on road tests. . . . It is quiet and smooth-running at all speeds. . . . It is remarkably quick on the get-away. . . . It has specially designed mechanical four-wheel brakes. . . . It has hydraulic shock absorbers. . . . It has a standard, selective gear shift. . . . It is quick and easy to handle in traffic and steady and sure on the open road. . . . It runs 20 to 30 miles on a gallon of gasoline, depending on your speed. . . . And it has the stamina and reliability that you need for mile-after-mile and year-after-year service.

The new Ford car will sell at a surprisingly low price

When you think of such features as these, you think instinctively of a car costing much more than the new Ford. The low price is as unusual as the appearance and performance of the car itself.

The low prices of the six body types are undoubtedly lower than you thought they would be when you first heard that Ford was making a new car. They are, in fact, lower than we thought they could possibly be when we started to make this car.

We determined to bring new comfort, beauty, speed, safety, economy and reliability within reach of everybody who drives a car, and then forced ourselves to find ways to make the low prices possible.

The new Ford car is the result of years of careful planning. Every part of it has been tested and retested in actual practice. There is no guessing as to whether it will be a successful model. It has to be. There is no way it can escape being so, for it is the sum total of all we have learned about motor car building in the lifetime of the Ford business.

Some of the features of the new Ford car

In this connection we call your particular attention to the new engine; the new pump, splash and gravity oil system; the multiple dry-disc clutch; the new pump and thermo-syphon cooling system; the new battery, coil and distributor ignition; the low center of gravity and minimum unsprung weight which combine with the hydraulic shock absorbers to make the new Ford such an easy-riding car; the irreversible steering gear, with the column and the housing of the steering gear mechanism welded into a single all-steel unit; the seamless, all-steel torque tube; the new one-piece, welded, steel-spoke wheels; the three-quarters-floating rear axle in a forged-steel housing of exceptional strength; the theft-proof coincidental lock; and the aluminum pistons which were selected after many tests because of their light weight and heat-conducting qualities.

*"The new Ford car embodies the best results of our experience in making 15,000,000 automobiles.
We consider it our most important contribution thus far to the progress of the motor industry, to the prosperity of the country, and to the daily welfare of millions of people."*

Henry Ford

Steel forgings are used throughout except, of course, for the engine castings. More steel forgings, in fact, are used in the new Ford than in almost any other car, regardless of price.

WE ARE able to sell this new Ford car at a low price because we have found new ways to give you greater value without a great increase in our own costs. Because we own our own ore mines, coal mines and timber lands and the source of most of our raw materials. Because we make virtually every part used in the new Ford car. Because it is the Ford policy to make a small profit on a large number of cars, rather than a large profit on a small number of cars.

There is nothing like it in quality and price

No other manufacturer can possibly duplicate the new Ford car at the Ford price because no other manufacturer does business the way we do. The public made this business possible. We believe we should share our profits with the public by continually giving greater and greater value for the money.

There are good and substantial reasons, therefore, why the new Ford car is the most unusual value ever offered in a low-price car.

By all means, learn about the new Ford on Friday when it is officially announced in this city. You will know then that there is nothing quite like it anywhere in quality and price.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

Suspicion attaches in turn to Miss St. Clair Pyffe and Leacock Vance eliminates the girl, and when Pyffe's statements strengthen the case against Leacock he intervenes to keep Markham from arresting the captain. Miss Hoffman relates that Pyffe and Benson had quarreled and it is brought out that Pyffe had forgotten Benson's name to a check Tracy makes an investigation into Pyffe's affairs.

NOW BEGIN THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXVI

"I found one other woman in the case," Tracy said. She lives in New York, and often telephones to a drug store near Pyffe's house and leaves messages for him. He uses the same 'phone to call her by. He had made some deal with the proprietor, of course but I was able to obtain her 'phone number.

"As soon as I came back to the city I got her name and address from information, and made a few inquiries. She's a Mrs. Paula Banning, a widow, and a little fast. I should say, and she lives in an apartment at 268 West Seventy-fifth street."

This exhausted Tracy's information; and when he went out, Markham smiled broadly at Vance.

"He didn't supply you with very much fuel."

"My word! I think he did unbelievably well," said Vance. "He unearthed the very information we wanted."

"We wanted?" echoed Markham. "I have more important things to think about than Pyffe's amours."

"And yet, y' know, this particular amour of Pyffe's is going to solve the problem of Benson's murder," replied Vance; and would say no more.

Markham, who had an accumulation of other work awaiting him and numerous appointments for the afternoon, decided to have his lunch served in the office; so Vance and I took leave of him.

We lunched at the Elysee, dropped in at Knoedler's to see an exhibition of French Pointillism, and then went to Aeolian Hall where a string quartette from San Francisco was giving a program of Mozart.

A little before half past five we were again at the district attorney's office which at that hour was deserted except for Markham.

Shortly after our arrival Miss Hoffman came in, and told the rest of her story in direct, business-like fashion.

"I didn't give you all the particulars this morning," she said; "and I wouldn't care to do so now unless you are willing to regard them as confidential for my telling you might cost me my position."

"I promise you," Markham assured her, "that I will entirely respect your confidence."

She hesitated a moment, and then continued.

"When I told Major Benson this morning about Mr. Pyffe and his brother, he said at once that I should come with him to your office and tell you also. But on the way over, he suggested that I might omit a part of the story. He didn't exactly tell me not to mention it; but he explained that it had nothing to do with the case and might only confuse you. I followed his suggestion; but after I got back to the office I began thinking it over, and knowing how serious a matter Mr. Benson's death was, I decided to tell you anyway."

"In case it did have some bearing on the situation, I didn't want to be in the position of having withheld anything from you."

She seemed a little uncertain as to the wisdom of her decision.

"I do hope I haven't been foolish. But the truth is, there was something else besides that envelope, which Mr. Benson asked me to bring him from the safe the day he and Mr. Pyffe had their quarrel. It was a square heavy package, and like the envelope, was marked 'Pyffe-Personal'. And it was over this package that Mr. Benson and Mr. Pyffe seemed to be quarrelling."

"Was it in the safe this morning when you went to get the envelope for the Major?" asked Vance.

"Oh, no. After Mr. Pyffe left last week, I put the package back in the safe along with the envelope. But Mr. Benson took it home with him last Thursday—the day he was killed."

Markham was but mildly interested in the recital, and was about to bring the interview to a close when Vance spoke up.

"It was very good of you, Miss Hoffman, to take this trouble to tell us about the package; and now that you are here, there are one or two questions I'd like to ask. . . . How did Mr. Alvin Benson and the Major get along, together?"

She looked at Vance with a curious little smile.

"They didn't get along very well," she said. "They were so different. Mr. Alvin Benson was not a very pleasant person, and not very honorable. I'm afraid. You'd never have thought they were brothers. They were constantly disputing about the business; and they were terribly suspicious of each other."

"That's not unnatural," commented Vance, "seeing how incompatible their tempers were. . . . By the bye, how did this suspicion show itself?"

"Well for one thing, they sometimes spied on each other. You see, their offices were adjoining, and they would listen to each other through the door. I did the secretarial work for both of them, and I often saw them listening. Several times they tried to find out things from me about each other."

Vance smiled at her appreciatively.

"Not a pleasant position for you."

"Oh, I didn't mind it," she smiled back. "It amused me."

"When was the last time you caught either one of them listening?" he asked.

"The girl quickly became serious. "The very last day Mr. Alvin Benson was alive I saw the Major standing by the door. Mr. Benson had a caller—a lady—and the Major seemed very much interested. It was in the afternoon."

"Mr. Benson went home early that day—only about half an hour after the lady had gone. She called at the office again later, but he wasn't there of course, and I told her he had already gone home."

"Do you know who the lady was?" Vance asked her.

"No, I don't," she said. "She didn't give her name."

Vance asked a few other questions, after which we rode up town in the subway with Miss Hoffman, taking leave of her at Twenty-third street.

Markham was silent and preoccupied during the trip. Nor did Vance make any comment until we were comfortably relaxed in the easy chairs of the Stuyvesant Club's lounge-room. Then, lighting a cigaret lazily, he said:

"You grasp the subtle mental processes leading up to my prophecy about Miss Hoffman's second coming—eh, what, Markham?"

"I knew friend Alvin had not paid that forged check without security, and I also knew that the gift must have been about the security, for Pyffe was not really worrying about being jailed by his last ego."

"I rather suspect Pyffe was trying to get the security back before paying off the note, and was told there was 'nothing doing'. . . . Moreover, Little Goldilocks may be a nice girl and all that; but it isn't in the feminine temperament to sit next door to an alteration between two such rakes and not listen attentively."

"I shouldn't care, y' know, to have to decipher the typing she said she did during the episode. I was quite sure she heard more than she told; and I asked myself: Why this curtailment? The only logical answer was: Because the Major had suggested it. And since the gnarled Fraulein was a forthright Germanic soul, with an inbred streak of selfish and cautious honesty, I ventured the prognosis that as soon as she was out from under the benevolent jurisdiction of her tutor, she would tell us the rest, in order to save her own skin if the matter should come up later. . . . Not so cryptic when explained, what?"

"That's all very well," conceded Markham petulantly. "But where does it get us?"

"I shouldn't say that the forward movement was entirely imperceptible."

Vance smoked a while impassively. "You realize, I trust," he said, "that the mysterious package contained the security?"

"One might form such a conclusion," agreed Markham. "But the fact doesn't dumbfound me—if that's what you're hoping for."

"And, of course," pursued Vance easily, "your legal mind, trained in the technique of ratiocination, has already identified it as the box of jewels that Mrs. Platz espied on Benson's table that fatal afternoon."

PRICES AND TAXES
It is told, in one of the many biographies of Henry Ford, that nearly always in cutting the price for his car he has alarmed his advisers and subordinates by cutting below the current cost of production. His practice has been, according to this account, to have his experts figure out the lowest price he could sell the car for, and still break even—then he would deliberately lop off $10 or $25 or $50 more and tell his people it was up to them to make good his arbitrary price.
Always he was warned that he was inviting ruin. But always he got away with it. His producing organizations were driven to new economies and efficiencies to avoid disaster. His distributors were forced to greater selling efforts. The public, attracted by the lower prices, bought more cars, thus stimulating mass production. The result was that soon, in spite of every contrary indication, his product would show a fine profit again.
It almost seems as if congress has adopted this Ford policy in its federal tax reductions of recent years. Always it has cut the government's income more drastically than its expert advisers considered safe. Always there were dolorous prophecies of treasury deficits. And always the revenues from lower tax rates have belied those prophecies and provided a new surplus.
Perhaps these federal treasury profits are no harder to explain than Mr. Ford's. The reaction is roughly the same in both cases. Congress, after a drastic cut, is driven to economize to make good. The administrative departments do likewise. Taxpayers respond to the lower rates by paying more willingly at the new rates, with less concealment and evasion. Business in general is encouraged and stimulated, and that makes larger incomes to tax payers on. It need surprise nobody if this happens again when the tax cut now in preparation becomes effective.

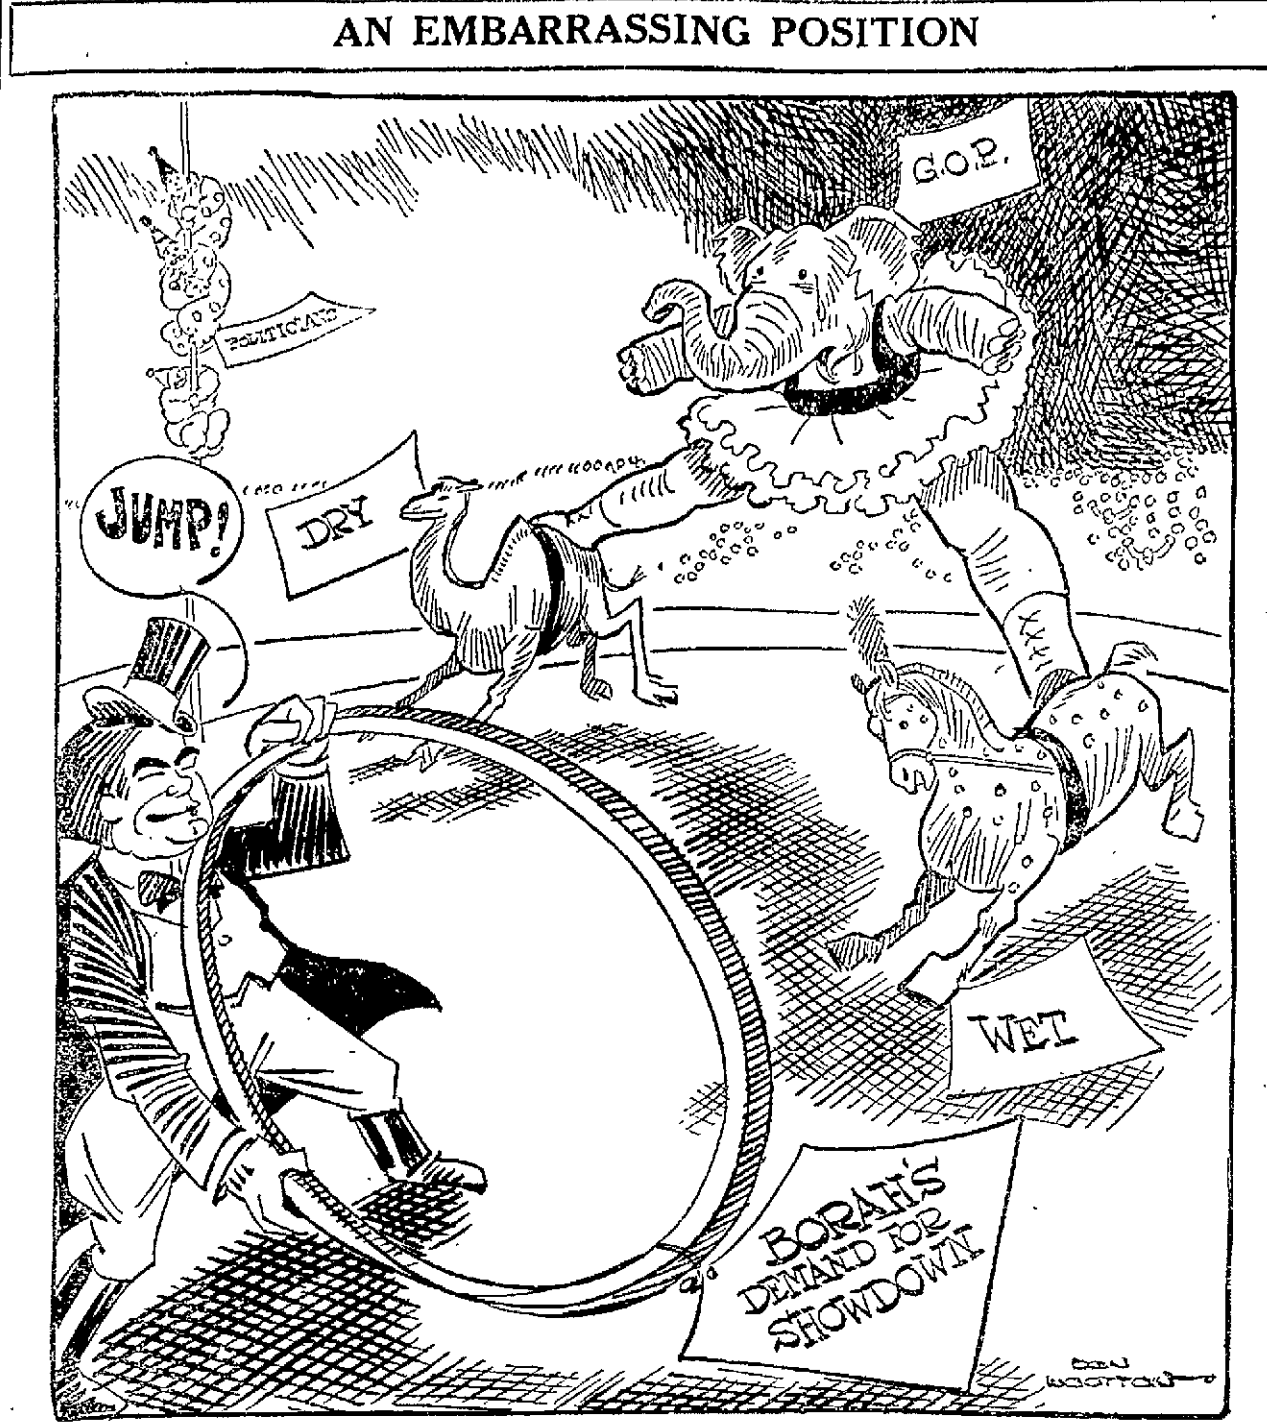

RESTRICTING SUGAR OUTPUT
Is the present plan for the restriction of the sugar output for price regulation or price manipulation? Ostensibly it is to reestablish the balance between world production and consumption destroyed by the war. However, sugar stocks here rose immediately on advice from Paris that representatives of the sugar exporting countries of Cuba, Germany, Czechoslovakia and Poland after a three-day conference had agreed upon a plan to restrict the output, and that Col. J. M. Tarafa, representative of President Machado of Cuba, was confident of success in his plan to bring Dutch owners of Java sugar holdings into the agreement.
Agents of the American government were among the interested observers during the meetings. Their interest was pointed by the fact that if Cuba for example is to restrict its annual production as proposed to 4,000,000 tons and the big exporting nations of Europe make similarly large restrictions, the price of sugar in the United States will rise. If Col. Tarafa succeeds in lining up the Dutch sugar interests, observers believe that the general agreement for restriction of production may succeed. The agreement would have an effect not unlike the Lingle plan and chemical trusts in price regulation.
Despite the details of price regulation, which to many mean price manipulation, a rise in price is certain to follow the regulation of the world market supply. This is of vital interest to the United States, which consumes 3,000,000 tons of sugar a year, of which it imports 2,000,000 tons from Cuba. The result is a heavy reliance on a single source of supply, and it is to stimulate sugar production in the United States, making a change of necessity and turning into the hands of our own producers, a source of supply which they have long felt as a weakness in the development of the sugar industry.

HOOVER ON PROSPERITY
Has the business cycle been abolished, or will we have a periodic repetition of old-fashioned "hard-times"?
Here is the opinion of Herbert Hoover as given in an interview just printed in the Magazine of Wall Street:
"I can say that I believe that the profound forces which have been in motion in the whole business world, particularly during the past 15 years, are making for greater stability, and have, in my view, greatly mitigated the violence of the business cycle.
"It seems impossible that the old terror-stricken panic can ever return, and I fervently hope that those periodic stretches of heart-breaking unemployment, back-breaking prices to farmers, bankruptcies to business men through no fault of their own, are on their way to history if we only continue wise.
"Many factors contribute to this hope. The Federal Reserve System has already proved its ability to guarantee against money panics. It gives a large measure of assurance of a continuous flow of credit. Business concerns have today larger working capitals of their own, i. e., less proportion of inventories carried on bank loans. All this contributes to freedom from interruption of production and distribution through accidental or artificial restriction of credit.
"One of the supposed broader causes of the business cycle was that in the rise from a slump, increased employment brought larger savings and profits, that these savings and profits sought employment in expansion of industry which in time brought about over-expansion and over-production, thence the slump again. One might conceive this to be true if the variety of business was limited and if increased production did not bring about decreased costs and consequent wider consumption. If all savings had to be poured back into expansion of the industries from which they were derived, and if there were no expansion in demand for their products, this would probably be true.
"If, on the other hand, the demand for capital was for new industry, such as was recently the case in automobiles, and still is for electrical power and apparatus, foreign loans, better homes, processes of production in old industries, then this mechanistic theory would be less applicable. This is to a great extent taking place. We have an increasing skill in business and technical direction, in scientific discovery and invention due to the enormous spread of education. Thus we have constantly new fields for investment in new products meeting new satisfaction.
"We have a large growth of co-operative sense in business—an increased feeling of mutual responsibility and an undoubted decrease in wasteful labor conflicts. Our foreign trade has greatly expanded, thus giving a wider base to production and a greater variety and spread of customers. We have shifted our merchandising methods to a great degree from advance orders to hand-to-mouth buying—making for less inventories and thus less hazards in price movements.
"Finally, we have enormously improved our private and governmental information services as to economic movements. We now have a lot of useful statistical and economic lighthouses by which navigation of business becomes more secure. We also have some new currents in business which, I believe, are really of minor importance that may work against these stabilizing forces.
"That all these stabilizing forces amount to abolition of the business cycle no one would say, for some part of that movement is due to the imponderables—politics, internal relations, fear, optimism, etc. Certainly we have had an unprecedentedly long period of stability—and the fundamental forces of stability are growing. In any event, none of the signs point to a slump at the present time."
With another presidential election coming on, Hoover's confidence as to the future seems reassuring.

Answer: A dry shampoo with a mixture of one ounce of orris root powder and one ounce of corn meal may be used. If the scalp is oily or greasy, rub in with the finger tips, once daily, a little of this lotion:
Resorcin 10 grains
Bay rum 2 ounces
One drawback about resorcin is that it may stain white or very blonde hair a reddish color. Sulphur is the next best remedy, but sulphur is not soluble and is therefore less convenient to use.

HOW DO YOU FEEL AND HOW DO YOU LOOK AND HOW DO YOU CARRY ON?
Here's a request from what I infer, from the specifications, must be a perfectly lovely lady, who says she is 31 years old, 66 inches tall and weighs 149 pounds. Now what does this perfect lady want? Of course she wants to reduce. I can't imagine why, unless she is plotting to get alimony or floating kidney. But she asks for a good reduction regimen, and she asks in such a ladylike way that it is hard to refuse. In order to sweeten my refusal to give such advice or assistance to a lady in distress (of mind) I am going to present here the grounds on which I base the refusal, and as this pleasingly plump lady is ubiquitous, I hope she may find herein some succor for her distress.
Before we start the quarrel it is well to mention that according to the old time tables you find on slot machines and in numerous other penny places, a woman aged 34 years and 66 inches tall should weigh only 110 pounds, sans costume. Well, we needn't quarrel about that. Perhaps 140 or even a few pounds less was the average weight of women 34 by 66 in the old days of bustles, skirts, iron-bone corsets and wasp waists. Females of those days were naturally sickly, feeble, tonic taking, fainting, snoring creatures. Such a caricature can no longer get by. A girl or woman today is just nowhere unless she can get out and play a hard game or keep up with the boy or man of her age and class in every field of activity. Accordingly she is what she has to be, a pretty healthy wholesome competitor, an all around good sport, barring illness or accident that is not peculiar to sex. So if we're going to be fair to the modern girl and woman we've got to edit and revise these age height weight tables to fit the type. And when we make this revision we find that a woman aged 34 years, 66 inches tall, is normal, looks well and feels all right (provided she keeps fit) when she weighs up to ten per cent above the old fashioned normal—that is, any number of pounds up to 154. This premise is really not debatable. I'm stating it arbitrarily, and you must accept it as the scientific truth, no matter what the fashion cartoonists favor at the moment.
A similar revision of the tables applies for all ages below 31 years or 35 years, particularly for youth. When we pass 55, then, unless our later life is much more active than this period of life has been for most people in the past, the excess poundage over the old fashioned normal diminishes little by little with the increasing years, and by the time we reach 50 or 55 the old fashioned normal is about the correct standard for today. But remember, no cut and dried figures will suffice to determine what one over 35 should weigh—it depends on one's physical activity and condition, or in other words, in arriving at the correct figure it is necessary to take into consideration the factor of individual fitness.
I said the 34 by 66 lady at any weight up to 154 pounds is normal, looks well and feels all right if she keeps fit. That is to say, if she gets adequate general exercise she will not be annoyed with that fat feeling, and her muscle tonicity will give her a good posture so that she will not appear flabby, slouchy or too stout.
Muscle tissue is heavier but takes up less room than fat.
The old fashioned feminine perfection included considerably more fat; the modern woman has more muscle.

HASKIN WRITES TODAY
ON—
DEMOCRACY'S TWO-THIRDS RULE
Washington, D. C. — The quadrennial agitation over the two-thirds rule is now causing Democratic leaders to worry and giving Republicans reason to hope that the 1928 campaign will be comparatively as easy for them as was that of 1924.
Most of Democracy's big men would like to avoid a deadlock in their national convention next year and they are inclined to think that dropping the two-thirds rule is the only hope of accomplishing that. A few of them, however, regard an attack upon that rule as little short of an invasion of their constitutional rights and get so excited over it that they forget how their party makes its rule.
Take Senator Caraway, of Arkansas, for example. He is quoted in a recent newspaper interview as declaring that his party is about to abrogate the two-thirds rule because a majority of the Democratic National Committee is committed to that action. This leads him to predict that when November, 1928, rolls around the country will find that it has four presidential candidates from among whom to make its choice. Senator Caraway is credited with having said that whereas a two-thirds vote, normally would be required to repeal the two-thirds rule of his party that fiendish machination was about to be accomplished by a mere majority vote.
Distressed as the Arkansas Senator may be over the bugaboo he has conjured up, he is not to be permitted to frighten other good Democrats if the party organization can prevent that eventually. The Democratic National Committee, through some of its political experts, has made a survey of the two-thirds rule subject.
And the result is wholly reassuring to Democrats who have been distressed by Senator Caraway's gloomy forebodings. The forces that command a majority of the votes in the next Democratic National Convention need not be worried about the two-thirds rule; they will be in complete control of the situation and can do precisely and exactly as they please. There may be somewhat of a debate before they get away with their rough stuff, if it be rough, but they are assured that in the end they will prevail, as surely as does righteousness in a world of wrongdoing.
NOT A LAW OF THE PARTY
In the first place, it is to be noted that the two-thirds rule is not a law of the Democratic party. There are no party laws or rules. Each national convention adopts the rules by which it is to be governed. Usually it does this in a wholly perfunctory manner, on a motion that the rules of the last preceding convention be adopted, which is declared carried on a viva voce vote.
Senator Caraway to the contrary there is no question of repealing or abrogating the two-thirds rule, whether, by a two-thirds vote or a majority vote. When the Democrats assemble in national convention next year they will be committed to the two-thirds rule only as a matter of precedent. Their party has been adhering to it for approximately a hundred years, and it may be said to have the sanction of common law, as it were, but it will not control the 1928 convention unless it is specifically approved and adopted by that body.
It may be omitted from the convention's rules and a test vote on the question may be thereby avoided. But if the parliamentary sharpshooter what they are talking about, there will be no two-thirds rule in the next Democratic National Convention unless there is an affirmative vote to that effect. Moreover, no two-thirds vote will be necessary to adopt the two-thirds rule. A majority of the delegates comprising the convention can decide as they please as to how it shall be conducted. They can decree the kind of toothbrushes, if any, that are to be favored by the embattled hosts, and they can decide that a delegate who appears unshaven at a morning session shall be held in contempt of the convention and condemned to condign punishment.
Along with the two-thirds rule, should it be cast aside by next year's convention, will probably go the unit rule. Under the former be it understood, a candidate for President can not be nominated until he receives the votes of two-thirds of all the delegates in the convention; under the latter, a majority of the delegates from a State can determine how all the votes from that State shall be cast.
A REFUGE OF THE MINORITY
The two-thirds rule is usually favored by the minority elements in a convention. Candidates who can not command the support of a majority of the delegates naturally want the nomination determined by a two-thirds vote, because that gives them a chance in the compromise that is eventually worked out. Also a minority that embraces more than a third of the convention can decide who shall not be the presidential nominee even though it may not be able to dictate who shall be.
Thus in 1912 at Baltimore a minority decreed that Champ Clark should not be the party's candidate for President, although a majority of the delegates in the convention had voted for the Missourian on a number of ballots. Byron led the minority that exercised this veto power, and it was generally believed he hoped to force his own nomination, but in the end Woodrow Wilson became the beneficiary of the deadlock.
Had the Clark forces been certain

DAILY HINTS FOR HEALTH
YOU HAD A DREAM— THIS EXPLAINS IT
BY DR. MORRIS FISHBURN
Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine
Superstitious persons are likely to have dream books for consultation in times of emergency. These things are, of course, absolutely bogus and merit not the slightest consideration.
Various students of the human mind have, particularly in recent years, given serious study to dreams. It is significant that Dr. P. G. Stiles of the Harvard Medical School in a recent review of the subject should place most emphasis on the attention that has been given to dreams by Havelock Ellis and by Freud. He considers the Havelock Ellis book, "The World of Dreams," much more reasonable than Freud's more extensive work on the interpretation of dreams.
For many years Dr. Stiles kept a record of his own dreams and, as a result of this and his study of the literature, he has reached certain definite conclusions. Apparently everyone is true to his dreams to his conscious type of mind.
VISUAL IMPRESSIONS
The difference is that in the dream he reverses the sequence of events like a spectator at a motion picture, and feels no responsibility for the actions.
Most dreams are visual impressions of pictures related to incidents that have occurred during the day. There are involved also, many senses of motion, including floating, flying or falling.
Odors in dreams are infrequent. The sense of hearing is rather infrequent, although music enters into the dreams of many persons.
Not infrequently the sounds heard in dreams may be coordinated with sounds occurring in the vicinity of the sleeper when he is heard in the same situation when the sleeper awakes. For instance a series of rattling sounds heard in a dream were coordinated with the sounds of a locomotive passing a neighboring railroad station.
A sleeper dreamed that an electric

See-Sawing On Broadway
By Gilbert Swan
New York—The man-about-town, whose social rumblings have made intriguing reading for many a year, now faces the keen competition of that recent arrival, the woman-about-town.
The woman-about-town has fashioned her behavior after that of her widely advertised male pattern. She "goes everywhere," you see her in the lobby at all the important theater openings; you see her at the ritzy teas and the afternoon cocktail parties; you meet her in the better class speakeasy bars or the hotel lobbies.
She has that same self-assurance, that same rakishness of dress that marked the man-about-town. She is a product of this particular generation in which women, having found their place in the sun, claim the right of complete release from old conventions and restraints.
The woman-about-town has none of the earmarks of that older feminine type, the adventuress. She does not prey upon men, or even favors of men. She is quite prepared to pay her own check when in mule company and generally is a person, either of good income or of independent means.
Frequently she travels alone, and may be seen in the late hours of the night or the early hours of dawn taking a taxi from a dark curbstone. She is completely self-reliant, is witty, clever, quick with the latest gossip and small talk and is in demand to help brighten up a party. She seems to know everybody worth knowing and be in attendance at everything worth going to.
I know two or three such. One is a clever young publicity woman for a picturesque Manhattan film figure. While keeping others in the newspaper limelight, she projects herself in to that particular social area that shines on smart Broadway life.
Another is a successful young writer, whose stories appear from time to time in a national weekly and who is one of Manhattan's most inimitable "woman-about-town." She alludes to her friends by stating that she goes in for that sort of thing to get material for her stories. As a matter of fact most of her tales generally have to do with "sweetness-and-light" fluffy romance and all that.
There is nothing more amusing in Manhattan than the merry little game of checking the personality of writers against what they produce.
The editor of one of the most blatant sex-confession magazines is a demure and refined little Southern woman, with a lovely drawl and a prim, school-teachery demeanor. To her the wild adventures of the young ladies in the confession stories are just so much in a day's routine. She has never been in a night club and hasn't the slightest idea what all this wild life is about. Hence, perhaps, she's the perfect editor.
Just up one floor in the same building a half dozen young men grind out the wild-eyed western and cowboy tales. Only one of them has ever seen any country west of Chicago and wouldn't know a sagebrush from a cactus. They tell me that one of them recently had to ask whether Cheyenne was in Montana or Wyoming.
they could muster a majority in the convention it goes without saying that there would have been no two-thirds rule adopted that year. The nomination would have been made by a majority vote and Clark would have been the lucky man. Just how much that would have changed the history of the world is something to be guessed about.
In 1916 when Wilson was renominated by acclamation the only reference to the two-thirds rule was in the announcement made by Ollie James, the chairman of the convention, to the effect that Wilson was the nominee because he had received more than the required two-thirds vote. There was no question as to Wilson's being nominated, but Senator James was utterly wrong in his statement about the required two-thirds vote.
It may be predicted that the rule will be adopted by next year's Democratic convention only in case no candidate absolutely dominates the situation. If Al Smith has a clear majority of the delegates there will be no two-thirds rule and it is not improbable that he and his friends will be willing to chance dropping the rule even if they are not sure they can control the convention.

POSTAL EMPLOYEES GETTING READY FOR BIG CHRISTMAS MAIL

Postal Employees Get Together to Talk Over Ways of Speeding Deliveries

Handling of Christmas mail was discussed at a meeting of the Appleton Postoffice association Saturday night. After a luncheon prepared by Chef H. J. Jung and his assistants, plans were formulated to speed up delivery of holiday mail.

Letters, cards, newspapers and magazines will be handled by the regular carriers and regular and extra trucks will handle the parcels and heavier mail.

Carriers have been requested to report at 5:30 Saturday morning, Dec. 24, in an effort to deliver all mail that is received at the postoffice. There will be no delivery Sunday, Dec. 25, and the postoffice will be closed Monday, Dec. 26, but delivery will be made up to noon.

Extra trucks and help has been provided to take care of the avalanche of mail during the holidays and delivery will be made as speedily as possible.

A special window will be opened at the main postoffice for the sale of postage stamps, letters and cards only, so that persons who wish to purchase stamps will not have to wait in line for those who have parcels to be mailed.

Two branch postoffices will take care of a large amount of mail and will help to speed up mailing this year. They are located in Schlitz Brothers drug stores at 114 W. College-ave and 601 W. College-ave.

POLICE WARNED AGAINST ALLEGED CHECK SWINDLERS

Police here have been asked to warn merchants to guard against two check swindlers who pose as trappers, said to be operating in this vicinity. The warning was issued by the protective department of the Wisconsin Bankers' association. The two men representing themselves as being associated with the Universal Hide and Fur com-

32 Different Kinds Of Wrens Found In America

Every time I write an article on bird life that is, one pertaining chiefly to their habits and characteristics, I receive letters from young fellows in school asking for more. I have six letters before me now, some coming from Marinette and some from Appleton. It is impossible for me to comply with all the requests I receive, but I will do the best I can to please these coming sportsmen and naturalists, especially where they are seeking information.

Right at this season of the year the grown-ups will have to stand aside occasionally, and I know that, when they read the articles written for the education of their boy and my boy, they will willingly do this.

One letter I received from a young "junior high" of a neighboring city was particularly appealing. He asked that I tell him something about our wrens. He said that he knew of as many as pany, cash checks that do not exceed $40, it was said.

The checks are printed on banker's blue safety paper and bear the words "Universal Hide and Fur company, dealers in hides and furs of all kinds." The checks are drawn on the Merchants National bank of Milwaukee, which does not exist. The checks are numbered in red with a machine and the date is stamped with a small rubber stamp in blue ink. A small pocket protector is used to stamp the words, "not good over $40."

Different names are used in signing the checks which are made out for various amounts.

three different kinds, which showed that he was observing. He asked if there were more than that many; what they fed upon; and how far north and south they traveled in their migrations. He indicated clearly that he was a keen student of our very interesting wild birds, and so I will try and help him along.

To begin with, there are some thirty two different species of wrens in America. Some are west coast birds and others remain in the far south all the year round. Those may not be of so much interest to our local boys and for that reason I shall use the short space allotted to me in telling them something about the more familiar species.

The wren family is one of the most interesting of all birds, and one of the easiest to get acquainted with. Our well known Eastern House wren is one of the commonest and best known. It is a grayish-brown little bird that lives in shrubbery, gardens and about buildings. It makes its nest in some hole in the fence or in a stump, and even in old water troughs. This interesting and valuable little sweet singer brings forth as high as three broods of young each season. It is valuable because it destroys millions of destructive insects every year. Nature is well balanced. Every form of life has its use, but in order that no one kind may get too numerous, nature has provided some other type to prey upon it.

Another extremely interesting member of the wren family, and one with which most youngsters are familiar, is the Winter wren. This little fellow is smaller than the House wren and, although just as plentiful, it is not as often seen. This, too, is a brownish bird but streaked with black and white bars. If the proper home is constructed for them, and care is taken to see that it is well hidden from view, once a pair decides to occupy your donation, you may well be sure that the same pair may return each year, so long as they are not disturbed.

Bewick's wren and the two Marsh wrens are the others with which we are most familiar. Of the whole wren family there are some sixteen species living in the far western country and the balance, about a dozen species, live in the southern states exclusively.

SEASONAL DROP IN EMPLOYMENT QUITE EVIDENT IN STATE

Reports to Industrial Commission Show Increasing Surplus of Labor

Madison—(AP)—The state industrial commission Tuesday augmented its recent report on labor conditions over the state at large, with detailed summary by cities showing a general seasonal drop in employment.

The summary gives employment conditions in Ashland, LaCrosse, Green Bay, Milwaukee, Oshkosh, Racine, Sheboygan and Wausau.

The report follows:

"Ashland—There is an increase in demand for woodmen and all willing to accept wood work can be taken. A majority of those working on the docks during the summer time go to the lumbering camps as soon as the season starts. More woodmen are called for at this time than are available locally.

"LaCrosse—A surplus of common laborers, farm hands, factory workers, office help, clerks, restaurant and hotel workers is registered at the public employment office. Market Square. Local construction projects will be completed within a month or six weeks and after that time work will be very scarce for building tradesmen. Two of the largest industrial plants are working with reduced forces and on a part time basis.

"Green Bay—Employment is falling off, owing to a decrease in local construction, a large reduction in the volume of freight received by boat for reshipment by railway and on account of the usual seasonality of many local industries.

SURPLUS OF WORKERS

"Milwaukee—Factory employment is falling off with the result that there is a surplus of workers for practically all lines. Plants have resorted to reduction of working forces and to shorter hours or part time operating schedules. With the approach of winter, building and other outdoor activities are slackening up, although a large hotel, several office buildings, apartment houses and dwellings are still under construction. There is a surplus of unemployed labor of both male and female for all lines of industry, including farm hands and wood workers.

"Oshkosh—The demand for labor is very slow. Wood working plants are working short hours. There are practically no employment opportunities open except for experienced cooks and domestic help for private homes.

"Racine—The demand for labor is very slow. Part time employment prevails in most metal working plants. Rubber and paint factories are operating on a full time schedule. Local building tradesmen enjoy good employment and building permits issued for the last month totaled $75,000.

"Sheboygan—A surplus of unskilled labor is augmented by an influx of transient labor which cannot be placed in employment. Practically all builders are running full time with full force employed. Local building tradesmen met local requirements and no outsiders should be encouraged to come in.

"Wausau—Industrial conditions in most manufacturing lines are at a lower ebb than usual for this season of the year. Business is slow. Outdoor activities have been completely stopped by zero weather and heavy snow and steel storms. Logging camps and saw mills will offer the employment opportunities in this locality for the next few months."

Newspapers numbering 2190 are published in Great Britain and Ireland.

A.A.U.W. To Sponsor Talk By Professor

Oscar Hagen, head of the department of history and criticism of art at the University of Wisconsin, will speak on Painting and Engraving in the Period of Albrecht Durer, a subject with which he is especially sympathetic, at 8:15 Friday evening at Peabody hall. The lecture is sponsored by the American Association of University Women. The proceeds will go in to his scholarship funds.

Professor Hagen illustrates his lecture with a collection of slides. The lecture includes the work of the artist Durer.

As a Carl Schurz Memorial Exchange professor Mr. Hagen came to the University of Wisconsin in 1924 and was invited to remain as head of the department. He was a pupil of Heinrich Woefflin, outstanding among the art historians of Europe. At the Universities of Berlin, Munich, and Halle, Professor Hagen studied art history, history, music, and philosophy for five years, receiving his degree of doctor of philosophy in 1914. Study trips to England, France, and Italy also were a part of his education. He became a professor in 1924 and later at Goettingen.

Mr. Hagen is also a writer of note. His work on Matthias Grunewald was responsible for the rediscovery of the paintings of the great contemporary of Albrecht Durer. Most of his writing has been done in German, but recently he has written Great Art Epochs and Their Leaders in English, which has become a standard study of both modern and Renaissance art.

SEYMOUR SETTLES
BACK TAXES WITH TWO LOCAL BANKS

Tax Rate Probably Will Be Raised to Limit as Result of Settlement

Special to Post-Crescent

Seymour—A settlement of all back tax claims with the First National and Seymour State Banks was effected by the city officials at a meeting of the city council last week. Under the terms of the settlement the state bank will receive $5,580.49 and the National Bank $7,213.86, payable March 1, 1928. These amounts represent about 60 per cent of the legal claims of the banks and the settlement was based on a refund of 50 per cent of the taxes paid under protest prior to 1925 and the total of the 1926 tax. The total amount will be raised in one year, the city council having decided that it would be best to pay all at once than to make a series of payments over years.

On account of the refunds a decrease in the tax rate for the coming year is predicted. The tax levy will not be made until the council meets in December but it is thought that it will be about $40 on $1,000 of assessed valuation.

Sour Stomach

"Phillips Milk of Magnesia"
Better than Soda

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all cases. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges the souring waste from the system without purging. Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda, based upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drugstore. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

POLITICIANS STILL
WONDER WHETHER CAL
WILL BE CANDIDATE

"Choose" Statement Has Strengthened Executives
Chances, Some Believe

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington—Millions of words have been written concerning President Coolidge's "choose" statement at Rapid City and its implications. Much of this mass of literature has been mere twaddle.

This is as good a time as any to bring the Coolidge situation up to date. Politicians and the rest of us reacted in several ways to that announcement. It should be pointed out that there is no proof that the president has taken a living soul into his confidence and that such being the case, probably no living soul to this day can speak with delicate authority as to just what he meant. But there is no law against trying to reach a basis of known facts even though, for ulterior reasons, most commentators have refused to do so.

Those who paid any attention to the "choose" statement at all may be divided into these main classes:

1—Those who believed Coolidge didn't want to be re-elected and who so resigned themselves.

2—Those who believed Coolidge didn't want to be re-elected, but felt he should be drafted.

3—Those who believed Coolidge did want to be re-elected and were glad to help the good work along.

4—Those who believed he wanted to be re-elected and who did everything possible to persuade the country that he didn't in the hope that he might be shamed out of it.

5—Those who believed he desired reelection, but felt that his statement had given the party leaders an eagerly accepted opportunity to ditch him.

There were few who knew Mr. Coolidge who believed that he would strongly object to another term. There were many who believed that he loathed the idea of having to fight for it in the face of the opposition that faced him despite his chances of success.

In other words, the oft-repeated idea that Mr. Coolidge cannot be drafted is in all probability the bunk insofar as Mr. Coolidge is concerned. He hasn't uttered a single word to indicate that he would turn the party down if it came to him with the nomination on a silver—or even an aluminum platter. Senator Fess quoted him as saying: "I won't work out that way. I won't be nominated." In that statement alone the implication that Coolidge would accept is stronger than any evidence to the contrary. If ever a Coolidge was wistful, it can well be imagined that Calvin Coolidge spoke wistfully when he said that to Fess. "I won't take it," may be hard for a man to say in some cases, but not for a man who means it.

THINKS HE WON'T RUN
Certain low persons who would all most prefer to see a Chinese war lord in the White House rather than Coolidge have been failing all over themselves, paying tongue-in-cheek tribute to what they contend was his magnanimous, possibly delicate, that he wouldn't accept renomination. They have said again and again that Coolidge was too honest a man to go back on the country after such a declaration and that, in fact, no man in his position could ever be so mean and low as to re-enter the picture, no matter how strongly he was beseeched to do so.

"Coolidge is out of it," many very prominent persons have been telling their friends in the last three months with great emphasis. They held that he couldn't possibly regain a chance at the nomination, even though he had expected his announcement to work to his political advantage.

Lately that assertion hasn't been made quite so frequently or so emphatically. An uneasy suspicion seems to be growing that it was a little too strong. Witness the most recent words of Borah, most puissant of senators, who a short time ago was convinced that Coolidge was "out of it." After he read Coolidge's Philadelphia speech certain doubts which must have been growing in his mind in late weeks were intensified. Borah is careful in public statements, but even he admitted that the speech had "completely obscured" the "choose" statement.

COOLIDGE IS STRONGER
The fact seems to be that Coolidge today is a stronger candidate than he was a week or a month after the "choose" statement. The politicians may not like him personally, but an uncertain and perhaps considerable number of them seem to have switched back to him tentatively with the idea that he is their safest bet, for few of them want Hoover and none of them want to lose New York to Al Smith.

Politicians lined up at the south are constitutionally opposed to any change, anyway. So are the campaign contributors. It may be that the pro-Coolidge sentiment will continue to grow right up to the convention, for Coolidge doesn't seem to plan any explanation of his position.

If he doesn't speak up, however, the fight on him will soon begin, with the outcome in some doubt. The worst thing that can hit him in the near future is passage by the Senate of an anti-third term resolution, which undoubtedly will be introduced with the support of the progressives and nearly all Democrats. There seems a good probability that this resolution will be passed and if that doesn't put a crimp in the Coolidge boom, nothing will.

BEGIN PREPARATIONS FOR SELECTING "STATE BAND"

Madison — (AP)—First steps toward selection of an official state band are being taken by the state university.

At the behest of the last legislature, the department of music of the state school was to conduct an annual contest to select a state band.

For some time after the regular legislative session closed official word of the legislature's command was not given to the University and when it was finally received the school of music was instructed to draw up preliminary plans for the selection.

STAGE And SCREEN

"CAT AND CANARY"

Laura La Plante climbs another rung on the ladder to universal popularity through her interpretation of the stellar role in Universal's "The Cat and the Canary," the fascinating mystery-drama which enjoyed continued country-wide success, as a stage play from the pen of John Willard.

Go to Fischers Appleton Theatre today or Wednesday if you want to enjoy an evening packed full of thrills and delicious suspense. You'll be hanging on to your seat for dear life from start to finish.

The story is characterized by interesting and effective photographic shots reflective of the genius of director Paul Leni. His instinctive sense of beauty and drama bring into play an interpretation of the values of the plot, producing the audience-reaction so eagerly sought after by directors.

In order to achieve his objective, Leni has made full use of the laws of action and reaction by using suspense-lifting interludes to heighten the dramatic tension through laugh-provoking situations injected at opportune intervals.

Laura La Plante as usual, gives an eminent performance fully justifying her stellar prominence in the movies. Arthur Carew is splendid in his role, as are the other members of the supporting cast, including Tully Marshall, Eugene Littlefield, Forrest Stanley, George Siegmann, Flora Finch, Martha Mattox and others.

UNCLE SAM HAS JOBS FOR NERVY MECHANICS

If there is anyone in Appleton or the vicinity who can operate a motor-boat, there is a good mechanic and wants excitement there is a position open for him as a prohibition operative on the Detroit and St. Clair rivers and on Lake St. Clair providing he can pass the necessary civil service examinations. This information was received in a bulletin from the United States Civil Service commission by H. J. Franck, secretary of the local board of examiners, with offices at the postoffice. The date of the examination will be announced later.

According to the bulletin the operators will be employed under the bureau of prohibition but will serve under the collector of customs at Detroit. Their duties will be to operate motor-boats capable of attaining speed of 26 to 50 miles an hour, to make repairs on the machinery of boats, and to assist in apprehending smugglers. Men between 22 and 40 years of age are preferred. The starting salary is $1,860. Higher positions are filled through promotion.

CITY AND COLLEGE GET WIDE ADVERTISING

Lawrence college and the city of Appleton received statewide advertising through the Wisconsin State Old-Boys conference which was held here Friday, Saturday and Sunday and attended by approximately 500 boys of the state. Each boy was given a copy of a Lawrence college booklet, the booklet, "A Trip Through Lawrence," written by Dan Herd, assistant to President H. M. Whiston; and a copy of the Lawrence college magazine. The boys also were taken through the college buildings and witnessed intercollegiate athletics in Alexander gymnasium.

BEG PARDON

Anton Krupp, Kaukauna, an iron foundry worker from Montana, who was found not guilty on charges of hunting without a license and without a resident hunting permit by a jury in municipal court last week, was freed on evidence of witnesses who testified that he had not been in the woods with a party of friends. Wednesday's issue of the Post-Crescent stated that the witnesses testified that the men who accompanied Krupp in the woods had possessed hunting license. The fact was Krupp was freed because the prosecution could not prove he had been hunting.

BUILDING OPERATIONS NEARLY AT STANDSTILL

Building in Appleton is nearly at a standstill if permits issued by the building inspector last week for new structures care to be used as a criterion. Only three permits were issued during the entire week, one for a residence and a two car garage, one for a single car garage and one for an addition to a residence.

The permit to build a residence and two car garage at a cost of $4,200 was issued to Henry Nofke. The structures were to be erected at 1235 W. Pine-st but in view of the protest from plat owners who claim that a road should divide block 92 in the Third ward at a point where the house is to be erected and the fact that Mr. Nofke has indicated an intention of selling the property these two buildings may never be completed.

The single car garage is to be built by Peter Ver Stegen at 1027 W. Wisconsin-st at a cost of $20. The permit to build an addition to his residence was granted Herman Parson, 512 W. Winnebago-st. The remodeling is expected to cost $500.

TRUST COMPANIES OF STATE REPORT GROWTH

Resources of Wisconsin Trust companies total $18,909,543 this year as compared with $18,317,432 in 1926, according to a report just issued by the United States Mortgage and Trust company of New York.

Combined resources of 2,731 trust companies of the country reporting on June 30 were $20,481,000,000, a gain of $1,145,000,000 over 1926. Deposits were $16,800,000,000 against $15,900,000,000.

"The situation of trust companies at present is very encouraging," said President John W. Platten of the United States Mortgage and Trust company.

"It is a cause of satisfaction that the resources of trust companies of the country continue to seek new high levels year after year, the totals at present being more than double those of ten years ago."

WARN HOTEL OWNERS AGAINST SWINDLER

Hotel owners of Appleton have been warned against a man who makes a practice of swindling hotels out of amounts ranging from $10 to $25, according to a bulletin sent out by the protective department of the Wisconsin State Hotel association. The man has a bill of large denomination which he asks the clerk at the desk to cash. When the clerk cannot cash the bill he asks for a temporary loan of from $10 to $25 until the bank opens in the morning. He disappears during the night.

HARD ARTERIES

Hardening arteries indicate high blood pressure, which means that the blood in the heart and blood vessels is under too great a tension—a condition which may end life suddenly. High blood pressure, indicated by hard arteries, heart palpitation, dizziness and difficulty in breathing is the penalty of our abnormal habits of living. We place too great a strain on the vital organs, especially the liver. The liver becoming "limp" or sluggish, fails to cleanse the blood of the toxic poisons formed in food waste. The whole system then becomes toxic, with stomach, kidneys, heart and blood vessels affected. It is generally recognized that the liver occasionally needs a little help. There is nothing better for this, as medical men know, than a little ox gall. Ox gall has been found to be a great stimulant for the liver. The genuine, pure ox gall is to be had, dainty and tasteful, in the form of Dioxol tablets. Each tablet represents 10 drops of pure ox gall and costs less than 2c at good druggists. To be sure of getting the genuine, look for the name Dioxol and picture of ox's head on the package.

Free Test Take this ad to the druggist named below and he will give you a free sample of Dioxol tablets. Try them yourself. See the splendid quick results. One trial of Dioxol and you will want a full package!

UNIVERSITY STUDENTS IN JOINT HOLIDAY PROGRAM

Madison—(P)—Students of the University of Wisconsin will hold an All-University observance of Christmas on Sunday evening, Dec. 18, the first time the entire student body has joined in a single Christmas observance.

Representatives of campus organizations are sponsoring the Christmas festival.

"In a big modern university we are always in danger of losing that sense of intellectual and spiritual community without which the individual student may become ingrown and limited in sympathy and outlook," a statement from President Glenn Frank to the committee declared. "This Christmas festival will give us a chance to participate in the sacrament of a common appreciation."

The committee chairman for the event are to be Richard Els, senior, and June Deadman, junior, in the College of Letters and Science. Other organization will be completed before the end of the week, Els announced.

WANT INSPECTION OF MILK SOLD HERE

Charge Milk Rejected by Chicago Inspectors Offered for Sale in Appleton

Rumblings of a demand that there be a more careful examination and testing of milk delivered to Appleton consumers have been heard following a charge by milk inspectors sent here by the city of Chicago that milk rejected by these inspectors is being sold to milk delivery companies here. Chicago inspectors check every can of milk that is offered for shipment to Chicago and immediately reject all cans that show evidence of neglect. Farms supplying milk for Chicago also are carefully inspected and farmers are obliged to maintain absolute cleanliness or their milk will not be accepted.

Because of the stringent Chicago regulations, it is said, a number of farmers decline to offer their milk for Chicago consumption and it is being taken by some Appleton dealers.

While Appleton dealers as a rule, it is said, are careful that the milk delivered to them is in good condition and clean, yet the general standard is lower than that required by Chicago and an inspection similar to that made by the Chicago health department is urged for all milk delivered and sold here. It is possible that the matter will be taken before the common council for consideration.

Thousands of housewives have found how to save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup. It is simple and cheap but it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable quinine, known the world over for its healing effect on membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

U. W. JUNIORS HUNTING PLACE TO HOLD "PROM"

Madison—Willard Monsen, chairman of the 1928 University of Wisconsin Junior Promenade is looking for a place to stage the annual celebration of the university—one of the year's brightest social events for the state school.

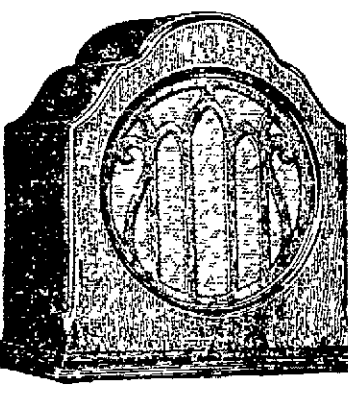

The Junior class has elected him prom chairman. But that is about all that has been done toward the prom. Monsen is looking for a young lady to accompany him in leading the grand march, looking for a place to have the march, a place to put an orchestra, a place to decorate gaily and a place on which his fellow students may dance for an evening—in liberal numbers.

For years prom chairmen have been living in the hope that their particular prom would be the first to be held in the Memorial Union Building that now cannot be finished in time for Monsen's prom. For years they have been forced to ask either the governor or the state legislature to extend to them use of the Capitol.

PIRATES TRADE KIKI CUYLER TO CUBS FOR ADAMS, SCOTT

Bruins Strengthen Team For 1928 Pennant Chase By Addition Of Fielder

Have Beck, Maguire Left for Second Base; Falters in Stretch This Year

Pittsburgh—(P)—The acquisition of Kiki Cuyler, storm center of the Pittsburgh Pirates, Monday was traded to the Chicago Cubs, for Earl "Sparky" Adams, second baseman, and Floyd J. "Pete" Scott, outfielder. The deal was made on a straight player basis and no money was involved.

Negotiations culminating the trade were conducted by William Veck, president of the Chicago Cubs, and Manager Joe McCarthy and President Barney Dreyfus of the Pirates and Manager Donie Bush.

CUBS WANTED KIKI

Chicago—(P)—The acquisition of Kiki Cuyler, storm center of the Pittsburgh Pirates, Monday was traded to the Chicago Cubs, for Earl "Sparky" Adams, second baseman, and Floyd J. "Pete" Scott, outfielder. The deal was made on a straight player basis and no money was involved.

The addition of Cuyler gives the Cubs one of the greatest collections of fly chasers and hitters in baseball history. Earl Webb and Cliff Heathcote are the present Cub fielders. Stephenson and Wilson, with Cuyler in right field, probably will compose the regular trio.

In Adams' place at second the Cubs will have Freddy Maguire, star second baseman of the Toledo American association champions and Clyde Beck. At short, the Cubs already have another Toledo star, Woody English, and at third is Eddie Pick, former Kansas City player. These three youngsters on the infield will be steadied by Capt. Charles Grimm at first base. Cuyler's reported in subordination at Pittsburgh. Manager McCarthy of the Cubs urged Veck to get him. Insisting he could get good steady baseball out of the temperamental Pirate who adored the bench throughout the recent world's series because of his dispute with the Pittsburgh officials.

As no money was involved in the Cuyler trade, it recalled the famous Cub-Pirate swap of a few years ago, when three star players on each side were swapped: Rabbit Maraville coming to the Cubs and Vic Aldridge going to the Pirates.

The Cubs, having landed Cuyler, now are in the market for a third baseman.

Eddie Pick of Kansas City, coming to the Cubs in mid-season, failed well but hit weakly, and the Cubs officials will try to dig up a competitor for him before training camp time comes.

Delaney Wants Bigger And Beefier Opponents

New York—The case of Jack Delaney versus the heavyweights is furnishing new fuel for the age-old controversy—can a good little man lick a good big man?

As the weeks go on and Delaney faces better and to mention, beefier opponents, one finds a rising tide of mawkish sentiment making a great hullabaloo over the "Rapier of the North" or "Bright Eyes" as he is variously called.

Thumbing back through the archives of Estuam it seems that the man who has forever been the light-heavyweight title to go after the heavy-weight game exclusively is not a pioneer. And although he has met Jim Maloney, Bud Gorman, Pauline Uzdun, Johnny Risko and Jack Remault, he has far to go to equal the success of his predecessors.

Joe Choynski, Kid McCoy, Bob Fitzsimmons, Tommy Burns, Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, Joe Walcott and others has famous knocked many a bigger package stuff.

Fitzsimmons and Burns are the outstanding examples, for each achieved success in the task which Delaney has set for himself—that of annexing the heavyweight title.

Fitz is the greatest because his opposition was the toughest. Bob Robert was little more than a middleweight when he met Maher, Sharkey, Jeffries, Corbett, Rubin and Dunkhorst.

Rubly, in fact, was not as heavy as Delaney.

ILLINOIS CAGERS TO TAKE 4,200-MILE TRIP

Urbana, Ill.—(P)—Spurred by the chance of a 4,200-mile trip to Seattle during the Christmas holidays, the University of Illinois basketball squad began scrimmage Tuesday for places on the team that plays the dedication games in the new $600,000 university of Washington field house, Dec. 27, 28 and 29. The party will leave Dec. 22, stopping for practice at St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver and Salt Lake City, returning Jan. 4.

30 STARS PLAY ON ALL-SOUTHERN TEAM

This team of all-southern seniors who will have made the all-stars team at Los Angeles on Christmas Day will soon assemble in Tuscaloosa, Ala. for a few days' practice under the triple direction of Coaches Wade of Alabama, McGugin of Vanderbilt and Alexander of Georgia Tech.

The three coaches got together a few days ago and named a squad of approximately 50 men, from whom will be chosen the squad of 22 to make the trip.

It's going to be a team of all-stars, men that have made the all-southern team in their careers and many of whom will make the all-southern team again this year as well as receive much attention for All-America honors.

Quite the most prominent player of the lot is Billy Spears, Vanderbilt quarterback this year. Nash and Shiver, the two Georgia ends, are to make the trip. Other prominent include Pickard, Alabama tackle, Mississippi, Florida fullback, Ekever, Clemson back, Butcher, Tennessee center, Menville, Tulane back, and Cohen, Ole Miss back.

The team is going to assemble at Tuscaloosa on Dec. 10 and after a few days' practice will make the long trip to the coast.

CAPABLANCA CONCEDES TITLE TO RUSS PLAYER

Buenos Aires—(P)—Alexander Alekhine, 35-year-old Russian, was virtually chess champion of the world Tuesday.

Jose R. Capablanca, Cuban master, who has held the title since 1921, announced after the eighty-first move in the thirty-fourth game with Alekhine that he would likely resign when the game is resumed Tuesday.

In the present series the winning of six games is necessary to gain the championship. Alekhine has won five, Capablanca three, and 25 have been drawn.

When the present game was adjourned Saturday night after 40 moves Alekhine had the advantage of a pawn and was considered as being in a favorable position to win. At the forty-ninth move Tuesday night, queens were exchanged and the adjournment after three hours of play found Alekhine still with the advantage of a pawn.

Capablanca, after the adjournment, said he would make an exhaustive analysis of the situation before coming definitely to a decision. He added that he felt there was not the slightest possibility of making Alekhine's march to victory.

New York—Phil Scott, England, knocked out Monte Munn, Nebraska, (10), Arthur De Kuh, New York, defeated Jack Humbeck, Belgium, (10).

Philadelphia—Leo Lomski, Aberdeen, Wash., defeated Tony Young, Marquette, New Orleans, (10). Eastling, Levisky, Philadelphia, outpointed Joe Lohman, Toledo, O., (10).

Those who saw the latter battle say Ruby Robert drove his arm up to the elbow in Dunkhorst's body with a left hook that felled him.

Fitz met Maher three times, first winning from him in 12-rounder at New Orleans in 1922. Four years later Bob stopped Peter in the first round at Langtry, Texas, and a few days later they boxed a three-round exhibition in New York.

Sharkey won from Fitz on a foul in the eighth round in San Francisco in Bob's last fight there before he stopped Corbett at Carson City with that famous solar plexus blow that made him champion. A few years later Fitz stopped Sharkey in two rounds at Coney Island.

Jeff was the one big fellow Bob could not get past, the boiler-maker putting the snore on him twice, once in 11 rounds and again in eight. Fitz stopped Rubin in six rounds and Dunkhorst in two, the record books show.

"I've got the speed and I've got the punch," says Delaney, "and there isn't a heavyweight in the racket today who has that combination. They say I've pulled a bone by resigning my title but time will tell. There is more dough and more action in the heavyweights and I'm going to stick until I'm stopped. A good little man can knock over a good big man—if he has the trick."

So there you are. More food for the debate, perhaps, as "Bright Eyes" unquestionably has a punch that appears a bit better than Tunny and his cohorts but Mons. Delaney will have to come to the mat to emulate the scraps of a champion tricked and named Mr. Fitzsimmons.

Mathew, Sharkey, Corbett and Rubin topped the scales around 150. Jeff was stout and they called him "the human freight car," but Fitzsimmons,

COAST GRID STAR MAKES SEVEN GOALS

Washington Ace Plays Big Part in Successful Season

With field goals the exception this year, since the goal posts have been moved back 10 yards, it is rather interesting to note that Gene Cook of Washington led the college booters of last season with seven goals from placement.

Cook kicked in against Oregon with a place kick in the third quarter that simply helped swell the margin of victory for the Huskies. The final score was Washington 23, Oregon 9.

Despite two field goals by Cook, Washington State sprang a surprise by winning over Washington, 9-6. Cook's first kick scored over from the 42-yard line in the first quarter. He added another in the final quarter from the 40-yard mark. These six points were all Washington registered.

In the game with California, seven points supplied by Cook enabled Washington to win. One was from the 23-yard line, the other from the 21-yard mark. He also scored a point after touchdown. Washington won the game, 12-7. Cook's kicking being the deciding factor.

A place kick from the 35-yard line was Cook's contribution as Washington lost to Stanford, 29-10.

In beating Nebraska, 10-6, Cook was responsible for four of the 10 points at the finish. He made a goal from the field in the final quarter from the 30-yard mark, also scored a point after touchdown.

It is doubtful if any place kicker will come even close to that mark this season.

The White put up a hard struggle, the score at the close of the first quarter standing 4-3 in favor of the Purple. At the half, 10-8 in favor of the Whites and 14-12 in favor of the Purple at the close of the third session. Verbeten caged three markers for his team and Courchone was highest scorer for the White with two and a free throw followed by Fox who had two field goals. The Blues walked away with the second game scoring the last two quarters as the score stood 5-4 in their favor at the half. Gossens starred for the Blues, caging five baskets and five free throws. Shelton with two baskets and a free throw was highest scorer for the Greens.

AFTER RECORD

"JAN" JANKOSKI

Having scored 13 touchdowns in seven games this season, "Jan" Jankoski, Duke griddler, seeks to establish a new record for Dixie. He wants to break the record of 16 touchdowns made by Cameron, W. and L. star of a few years ago, and has three games, all against schools of his own state, in which to break that mark. Jankoski is from Wisconsin.

HARVARD, MICHIGAN TO MEET ON GRID IN 1929

New York—(P)—Harvard and Michigan will play a two-game home and away football series in 1929 and 1930, a New York newspaper said Tuesday. Correspondence between the athletic directors of the two universities has all but sealed a contract which is expected to be signed soon, the paper asserts.

Miami, Fla.—Young Manuel, Cuba, defeated Benny Valgar, New York (10).

JOEY AZZARELLA ON OSHKOSH CARD

Milwaukee Battler Opposes Red Fry on Friday, Dec. 9

Oshkosh—Joe Azzarella, of Milwaukee, will oppose "Red" Fry of St. Paul in the ten-round windup scrap of the American legion's next indoor boxing show, it was announced by E. E. Fuller, matchmaker on cards at Fond du Lac, and has been a whirlwind for action on both occasions. Oshkosh fans, who attended the Fond du Lac shows, have created a demand that Bush be used on an Oshkosh program.

Azzarella is not unknown to Oshkosh fight fans, and his return to the local ring will be appreciated. Milwaukee's Joe is a pleasing scrapper, who operates his "dukes" in untiring fashion. Azzarella fought Freddie Jacks in an Oshkosh ring, and found the Britisher a "tough egg" to handle. Azzarella will find a different type of opponent in meeting Fry.

Up around the Twin Cities, "Red" Fry has earned the reputation of being one of the busiest fighters of the vicinity—which is saying quite a bit as Minneapolis-St. Paul are real fight centers. Fry is thoroughly rehearsed, and if freckles were gold pieces, he'd have the United States mint backed off the map.

"TOUGH LUCK" WILCOX

"Cotton" Wilcox, Purdue captain and flashy brawler, ended his football career with only a few plays in the Indiana-Purdue game and went out injured. Wilcox had his ankle injured early in the year and got a wrenched knee after only a few minutes play the latter part of the game. When Wilcox got up to go in he received an ovation almost as noisy as ones made when touchdowns were scored.

YANKS RELEASE BOB SHAWKEY AND REUTHER

St. Petersburg, Fla.—(P)—Bob Shawkey and Reuther, veteran Yankees twirlers, have been released to make room for younger twirlers. Miller Huggins, New York Manager, said Monday night that several new moundsmen would join the champions when they begin spring training here next year. He declined to identify them.

EVANS SUCCEEDS CLEVELAND BOSS

Former Umpire Takes Place of E. S. Barnard, Now Loop Prexy

New York—(P)—With the football season all but over except for occasional intersectional clashes, baseball popped back into the limelight Tuesday with a series of swift changes in personnel and management.

As one of the foremost young stars of the National League—Kiki Cuyler—passed from the Pittsburgh clubs in the National League to the Chicago Cubs.

As the Yankees announced the unconditional release of Pitchers Bob Shawkey, right-hand veteran, and Dutch Ruether, southpaw, the Philadelphia Athletics hoisted Eddie Collins to a position as general assistant to Connie Mack, veteran pilot.

The Cleveland Indians selected Billy Evans, umpire for many years in the American League as the new general manager of the club to take over the duties relinquished by E. S. Barnard, recently named president of the American league.

Manager John McGraw of the New York Giants announced that his club would train this spring at Augusta, Ga., instead of Sarasota, Fla., where the Giants have taken on their early season polishing for his past four seasons.

In releasing Shawkey and Ruether, Business Manager Barrow of the Yankees said the club was forced to let the hurlers go because "there are so many youngsters coming up from the minor leagues." Shawkey may be retained as a coach of pitchers, he said.

Ruether has played in the major leagues 11 years including service with the Chicago Cubs, Cincinnati Reds, Brooklyn and Washington Senators. Shawkey came to the Yankees several years ago from the Philadelphia Athletics and has seen 15 major league campaigns.

NASH BEATS SHIVER

Most southern critics are of the opinion that Nash is a much better end than his running mate, Shiver, for Georgia. The two as a pair are said to be the best in the south, but, contrary to opinion held in the east, the south, which has seen plenty of the pair, rate Nash the better man.

PHIL SCOTT BEATS MUNN BUT HUMBECK IS LOSER

New York—(P)—The invasions of two foreign heavyweights, both seeking to battle on to a match with champion Gene Tunney, rested at opposite turns in the little road Tuesday. Coming back after a crushing one round knockout at the hands of Knute Hanson, Minnesota Dane, Phil Scott, British heavyweight champion, knocked out Monte Munn, Giant Nebraskan, eight seconds before the closing of their ten-round bout Monday night.

Scott lashed the big westerner with solid right hand smashes to the head from the start, but could not floor him until the match was nearly over. The one clean drive to the chin topped Munn to the canvas. He struggled to his feet a fraction of a second after the count was completed. In only the seventh round did Munn's aggressiveness give him an edge in the fighting. Scott weighed 195, Munn 219.

Fistic fortune was not so kind to Jack Humbeck in the Belgian champion's American debut against Arthur De Kuh, Italian heavyweight. The husky invader smashed De Kuh frequently with heavy left hooks to the head but lost the decision in ten rounds when De Kuh halted him consistently with solid right smashes. Both were in trouble on several occasions, but each rallied without suffering a knockdown. Humbeck scaled 202½ pounds, De Kuh 206½.

WAGER $47,915,828 ON CANADIAN RACE TRACKS

Ottawa, Ont.—(P)—A total of $47,915,828 was wagered on race tracks in Canada during the racing year of 1927, the department of agriculture announced Tuesday. This is an increase of more than a million and a half dollars over the amount wagered in 1926. The 1927 racing year consisted of 354 days, 10 more than in 1926.

Succumbs To Lure

Hal Broda, who gained much fame as Brown last season as an end on the famous "Iron eleven," has finally fallen for the lure of the gold attached to pro football. After coaching in Cleveland for Western Reserve, Broda signed with Benny Friedman's Cleveland team and has been playing with them recently.

I'm getting mine with a pipe and P. A.

HAVE you never bent over a tidy red tin and caught that marvelous P. A. fragrance? Only a great tobacco could smell as good as that. You prove how good it is on the very first fire-up. What a taste, Men!

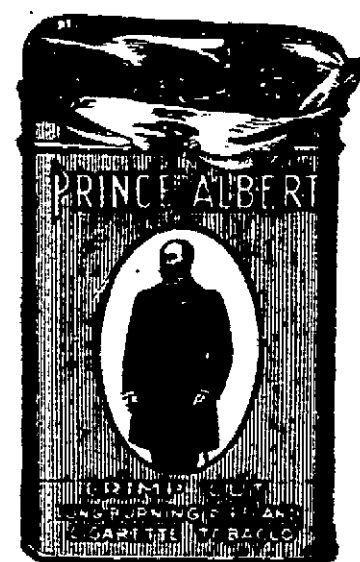

Cool as an immigration-officer. Sweet as getting in. Mild and mellow as you expect a smoke to be, yet with that full-bodied flavor that makes every puff a pleasant experience. I wish I could put the taste right on your tongue, but you'll have to do that.

P. A. in a pipe is cool and long-burning, right to the bottom of the bowl. This one brand is bought by more men than any other tobacco in the world. There's only one way to account for that—P. A.'s quality!

The sooner you get started, the better. A load of P. A. in the bowl of your pipe will be a load off your mind. And I don't mean that for any wise-crack. No matter what your present program is, try Prince Albert on the word of a friend. I'm telling you straight, you'll make no mistake.

PRINCE ALBERT

SCOUT LEADERS TO MEET IN TWIN CITIES

Six Day Course Will Conclude With Three Meetings This Week

The last two meetings of the scout leaders' training course and the over night camp will be held this week. The remaining meetings will be in St. Thomas parish hall at Neenah-Menasha on Wednesday and Friday evenings and the overnight camp over Saturday night on the Wolf river. About 30 persons have attended the meetings and 15 are expected to take the camp trip.

Wednesday evening's meeting will give the potential leaders and members of the valley council an opportunity to listen to Rev. Mr. Fuchs of St. Thomas church talk on the Scout Organization in the Church. He will point out what the church can derive from the scout program and how the scout program can be aided by the church.

Organization of another scout troop under direction of the valley council will be completed this week. The new troop is being organized at Kaukauna under the direction of the Parent-Teacher association. H. C. Ransley.

BADGER LAKE PORTS LEAD IN ORE SHIPMENTS

Superior—(P)—Wisconsin lake ports lead Minnesota and Michigan ports in iron ore shipment during the month of October, 1927, and narrowed the gap which separates them from Minnesota in total shipments for the 1927 season through October. This is shown by figures received here from the Cleveland, O., Ore and Coal Exchange.

Although total ore shipments in October showed a marked decrease over those for the same period in 1926, the Wisconsin points had a larger percentage of the tonnage, the figures show. Shipments from Superior and Ashland represented 40.70 per cent of the total, while Duluth and Two Harbors, Minn., had 38.45 per cent and Escanaba and Marquette, Mich., 20.53 per cent. Figures for October, 1926, gave the Wisconsin points 39.21 per cent of the total shipments; Minnesota points, 42.56 and Michigan points 18.23 per cent.

Total shipments for October, 1927, were 6,722,757 tons, as compared to

The BABY

No mother in this enlightened age would give her baby something she did not know was perfectly harmless, especially when a few drops of plain Castoria will right a baby's stomach and end almost any little ill. Fretfulness and fever, too; it seems no time until everything is serene.

That's the beauty of Castoria; its gentle influence seems just what is needed. It does all that castor oil might accomplish without shock to the system. Without the evil taste. It's delicious. Being purely vegetable, you can give it as often as there's a sign of colic, constipation, diarrhea, or need to aid sound, natural sleep.

Just one warning: it is genuine Fletcher's Castoria that physicians recommend. Other preparations may be just as free from all doubtful drugs, but no child of this writer's is going to test them! Besides, the book on care and feeding of babies that comes with Fletcher's Castoria is worth its weight in gold.

HUNT MAN WHO SHOT FRIEND AT MILWAUKEE

Slayer Kills Man Who Attempted to Help Reconciliation With Wife

Milwaukee—(AP)—An attempt to effect a family reconciliation Tuesday resulted in the death of Gust Zellar, 38, of Milwaukee, and in a search for Arthur Stern, 35, who disappeared after the shooting. Police said Stern shot Zellar.

Screaming, "I'll kill every one of you," Stern fired five shots at Zellar, according to Stern's wife, a witness of the shooting. "Two of the shots took effect, one passing near Zellar's heart and killing him instantly, the other penetrating his abdomen."

A quarrel between Stern, a railroad switchman, and his wife, which followed the patching up of an estrangement of years, culminated in the shooting. As Stern attempted to strike his wife, Zellar intervened and was shot. Stern then left the rooming house, jumped into his car and drove away before police arrived in response to a call.

WANTED RECONCILIATION

With the idea of effecting a reconciliation, Stern had arranged to meet his wife at a roadhouse Monday night, she said. They agreed to patch things up and then decided to go to the house where Mrs. Stern roomed. Arriving there, Miss Myrtle Christiansen, the owner, invited the pair to have some home brew. Zellar accompanied them to the basement, where they drank several glasses before Stern became abusive and threatened his wife, Miss Christiansen said.

Stern has not been seen since the slaying. Police, sending out word to authorities in nearby towns to be on the lookout for him, said he is a man about 35 years old, five feet, five inches tall and weighing about 200 pounds. When last seen he was wearing a brown checked overcoat. He drives a green Oakland landau.

Mrs. Zellar did not learn until early Tuesday morning that her husband had been killed. "I knew that something had happened because I felt it," she said, telling of lying awake for three hours Monday night.

WATER FIGHT ISN'T ENDED, EKERN WARNS IN FIRST STATEMENT

Complainant States Will Appeal Hughes' Decision to Supreme Court

An additional lowering in Lakes Michigan and Huron of about one inch..... that if the diversion at Chicago were ended, assuming that other diversions remain the same, the mean levels..... would be raised in the course of several years (about five years in the case of Lakes Michigan and Huron, and about one year in the case of Lakes Erie and Ontario) to the same extent as they had been lowered, respectively, by that diversion.

INJURED SHIPPING

"The lowering of lake levels of approximately six inches has had a substantial and injurious effect upon the carrying capacity of vessels and has deprived navigation and commercial interests of the facilities which otherwise they would have enjoyed in commerce on the Great Lakes."

A lowering of six inches has been a substantial contribution to the injury caused by the total reduction in connection with fishing and hunting grounds, the availability and convenience of beaches at summer resorts and public parks.

"I therefore find that the complainants have established that the diversion through the Chicago Drainage Canal has caused substantial damage to their navigation, commerce, and other interests as above stated."

The report sets out in detail the volume and importance of the Great Lakes water-borne traffic and summarizes the ton-miles of water haul of the principal bulk commodities during 1923 at a total of $1,466,962 ton-miles.

Other portions of the Ekern statement, and from the finding of Mr. Hughes were:

"The importance of this case was emphasized in the argument of former Secretary of War, Newton D. Baker, appearing for the complainants when he directed attention to the fact that there were involved in this controversy thirty-eight millions of people arrayed against seventeen millions of people, a total of more than half the people in the United States. The complainants states include, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York, which bounding on the Great Lakes have a vital interest in the lake levels as the Great Lakes traffic and the shores of the Lakes. Across these waters to the north, the Province of Ontario extends from Montreal on the east along the entire north shore to Minnesota on the west and Ontario and the Dominion of Canada are thus equally interested with the Great Lake States."

SENT TO JAIL FOR 5 DAYS FOR WIFE BEATING

Found guilty of assault and battery on his wife, Max Dunke, 31, 313 E. Foster-st., was sentenced to serve five days in the county jail by Judge Berg Monday afternoon. Dunke protested his innocence, declaring the trouble was started by a woman-law who stays at the house. He said he had quarreled with his wife and she called him names and in a fit of temper he struck her. Mrs. Dunke testified that her husband was always fighting and causing trouble about the house. She said he was continually finding fault and that he constantly was abusive language when drinking. Dunke was arrested at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon by Officer Carl Kahlert. Mrs. Dunke had made complaint at the police station.

AWARDED $80 BY JUDGE IN SUIT FOR BACK PAY

Frank Bartlein, Appleton, was awarded $80 from Een Tebo, Appleton, by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Tuesday morning, in his suit for $120 for back wages, which he claimed were due him for services from Oct. 17 to Nov. 7. Bartlein states that his suit against Mr. Tebo and G. H. Ryan, whom he declared in his complaint were co-partners in a business of re-painting and refinishing automobiles. The case against Mr. Ryan was dismissed and the judgment was entered against Tebo when it was brought out that no partnership existed between the two men.

Bartlein claimed he was hired by Tebo and was to be paid a satisfactory sum for his services. He asked for $120. Tebo contended that when he engaged Bartlein the latter understood that he was to be paid at the rate of $4 for each car he turned out after he had learned the process used by Tebo.

2 MEMBERS OF HIGHWAY BODY TO TAKE OFFICE

After the new members have been installed the committee will discuss plans for snow removal in the county. The county board at its session last week appropriated $25,000 for that purpose.

TRIAL OF APPLETON MAN POSTPONED FOR 30 DAYS

The case against Edward Heinzl, Appleton, who is charged with stealing a truck from the Fox River Boiler company in September, was continued for 30 days by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Monday afternoon. Heinzl was to appear for hearing at that time. He is free on $1,000 bonds. Heinzl is charged with stealing the car and abandoning it in Green Bay. He took the machine, it is alleged, from the company where he was working while under parole. Heinzl had been sentenced to the county jail for 60 days for drunkenness and he was paroled by Sheriff Zuehlke. He left the city and was later arrested at Neenah. After he finished serving the balance of his 60-day sentence he was arrested and charged with larceny.

TAYLOR SUSPENDED BY NEW YORK BOXING BOARD

New York—(AP)—Bud Taylor of Terre Haute, Ind., generally recognized as world's bantamweight champion, was suspended indefinitely Tuesday by the New York State Athletic commission for withdrawing from a scheduled fight next Thursday with Tony Canzonieri. Taylor reported an injured hand, but suspension in such cases is required by the commission's rules, regardless of the circumstances. Taylor has been replaced by Ignacio Fernandez as an opponent for Canzonieri.

BRITISH PROF WOULD SEND FAT MEN TO JAIL

London—(AP)—Fat men should be sentenced to hard labor, for indigestion is a crime, Prof. B. Collingwood of the University of London told the People's League of Health. "There is no excuse for indigestion," he said. "Indigestion is simply caused through lack of knowledge—knowledge of what to eat and how to eat it."

GOVERNOR AND CONTROL BOARD AT STATE PRISON

Madison—(AP)—Governor Fred R. Zimmerman Tuesday was in Waupun, looking over the state prison as a part of his inspection of state institutions, with a view to ascertaining their financial needs. This information is wanted so that he may make recommendations for the forthcoming special session of the legislature. Members of the board of control were with the governor.

of the University of London told the People's League of Health. "There is no excuse for indigestion," he said. "Indigestion is simply caused through lack of knowledge—knowledge of what to eat and how to eat it."

AVERAGE DAIRYMAN CAN DOUBLE INCOME, BADGER CLAIMS

PORT WASHINGTON MAN FINDS TESTING INVALUABLE TO HIM

Fewer and Better Cows Lead to Bigger Profits, Radio Speaker Says

Madison—(AP)—The average dairyman in a cow testing association can double his income without adding more acres to his farm or building larger barns, or by using more labor. This is the opinion of Fred Burhop, a dairy farmer of Port Washington, as expressed in a radio address over station WJIA here Monday evening.

"During the first year of my membership in a testing association, I learned that it pays to take better care of the herd," Mr. Burhop said. "I discovered I had three cows which were not paying for their feed, and by selling them to the butcher, the average production of milk and butter fat of the herd increased, together with an average increase for the herd as a whole."

At the end of his first year in a cow-testing association, Mr. Burhop said he found that there was a wide variation in the feed cost of a pound of butterfat. The lowest priced butterfat for the year was produced during the first month on pasture, when no grain was fed, and increased each month during the summer.

DRAW ON RESERVES
"We concluded that during the first month on pasture, the cows were drawing from the reserves stored up during the heavy feeding winter period, and that as they became thinner they naturally produced less."

"I became convinced that a member of a testing association received benefits in proportion to his efforts and willingness to make use of the information gained. After the first year I set my standard of increase at 25 pounds of fat per cow per year. The average production in my first year with 13 cows was 277 pounds of butterfat. The average turn over feed cost per cow was $55."

"We farmers are all working long enough hours," said Mr. Burhop. "We need more cash profits, rather than more units of production. We can do the job at less cost, and with fewer and better cows."

"By studying our association herd book we can learn which cows are the most profitable, and raise our heifer calves from such cows."

"The monthly contract with the tester, who gave me information on the feeds to feed and on general herd management, has been very valuable. Without his counsel and advice, it would have been difficult to have made the progress that has been made."

PRODUCE MARKET TREND IS UNEVEN

Butter, Cheese, Hog and Sheep Prices in Irregular Movement

Madison—(AP)—Butter, cheese, hog and sheep markets in Wisconsin moved over irregular ground last week, with adjustment of prices bringing higher and lower strands. It may be gathered from the weekly review of the state department of markets.

The review says that butter markets were uneven, cheese was steady, hog prices fluctuated and sheep also lost and gained. The full review follows:

"Top scores of butter were in light supply and good demand resulting in several fractional price advances. Dealers affected close clearance of top grades. On the other hand, medium and undergrade were not moving demand centering on top grades. Centralized car market supplies and demand were light. Butter prices are 1 1/2 cents lower than last year at this time."

The cheese markets during the past week were in a good, steady position. The buyers restricted their purchases to current needs. Reports of receipts at Wisconsin warehouses which are the best current indicator of production available at present time indicate a fairly rapid dropping off of production during the past two weeks. This is to be expected following the usual advance of the season and the coming of colder weather. In spite of decreases the production is still somewhat above that of a year ago. The market position is still very strong. Storage stocks are light. Current trading stocks are normal. Production is only moderately above last year, the demand is steady and prices are 1 1/2 cents higher than last year at this time."

As a result of liberal hog receipts, prices declined during the first part of the week reaching the lowest point since June. Late in the week, however, an increasingly active demand reacted favorably on the situation.

The first day of the week was marked in the sheep market by the arrival of liberal supplies of fat lambs. Buyers took advantage of the situation and fat lambs dropped 15 to 20 cents. An important factor in the decline was a temporary lack of shipment demand. With lighter receipts after the opening day an active shipping demand which developed later fat lambs not only regained the early loss but closed in a strong position. Fat lambs are higher as compared with the close of the previous week. There was a tendency to widen the spread between choice and lower grade offerings.

SAYS MILK, VEGETABLES CORRECT DIET EFFECTS

Steffensen Purebred Herd Makes Exceptional Production Records

FOUNDER OF HERD

BY W. F. WINSEY
Special Farm Writer

"When a herd stand up 14 years under the strain of milk and butterfat production attained and sustained by our cows, good breeding, proper feeding, kind treatment and wonderful constitutions must be some of the important elements in its makeup."

The speaker was Mrs. Walter H. Steffensen, Appleton, from whom there is no woman "in this neck of the woods" better posted in the points of a good cow, breeding names and records of purebreds, and the history of the development of types of purebreds.

"That cow over there is the mother, grandmother and great grandmother of the animals of our herd," she said, pointing to an animal in the Steffensen herd. Her name is Johanna Clyde Pieterse 3rd. She was born in 1913, gives birth to a calf each year and is still nimble on her feet. On her best day, she produced 112 pounds of milk and an average of 103 pounds for thirteen days, testing 3.8 per cent. In 1922, she held the state record of seven days. One could not choose a better cow as breeder or a milk producer. She is a great worker and a great hunter. She often hurls herself reaching through wire fences for choice morsels of feed."

"Goodhope Johanna Clyde, another member of the herd is a perfect show animal from the tips of her horns to the tip of her tail, and the pet of the herd. She is the next to last daughter of Johanna Clyde Pieterse 3rd. She also is a wonderful producer."

35 COWS IN HERD
In the Steffensen herd are now 35 animals, including 15 grade cows. When he had nothing but grade cattle and the inclination to change to purebreds, Mr. Steffensen bought his first purebred Holstein of Rudolph Schaefer, Appleton, and a second one a few years after of Fred Harrison, Appleton.

In 1913, he bought Johanna Clyde Pieterse 3rd of E. O. Mueller, Spencer, Appleton. He afterwards bought three purebred heifers of Mr. Mueller. These were the last purchases of female that Mr. Steffensen made. His problem afterwards was the purchase of high grade herd sires. As he wanted nothing but animals with the best of breeding and production records, he bought Sir Ormsby Abbeekir Komdyke in 1919 of Senator Hockney, Minnesota for $5,000. The dam of this animal was Day Abbeekir Princess Gisella, a 35 pound cow. He had very good luck with the calves of this sire. He could have sold four heifer daughters of this bull for $1,000, but was not ready to bargain at the time the offer was made. He sold the sire, however, to E. N. Murphy for $20,000. Mr. Murphy kept the sire several years and then sold him to the Green County Asylum.

"Our present herd sire, Sir Juanita Segis Pontue, is the best animal we have ever owned," said Mrs. Steffensen. We bought him of Senator Hockney in 1921. He is the brother of the champion cow of the United States, May Walker Oille Homestead, in production and the outstanding mother of show animals. In 1923, this cow was shown at the All-American Get of Dams at the National Dairy show. The get of dam consisted of a heifer and a bull. Mr. Pabst bought the heifer which was sold for $10,000 at the Brantwood sale. The price paid for this sire was $7,500. His daughters are decidedly typey with highest testing, copious production. Farmers paying $300 each for his daughters come back to say that such purchases were the best they ever made in the dairy business. These daughters hug the 4 per cent mark."

STARTED WITH $34
"If Mr. Steffensen has achieved anything in a business or a financial way, he has done so by means of his herd of cattle," said Mrs. Steffensen. He took possession of this farm with only $34 in his pocket. We have lived here 31 years. We came from Denmark where farming is done scientifically and every farmer is trained in the better farm practices, where dairymen are dairymen with nothing but purebred cattle as the base and where farmers are selling their products cooperatively."

"With this training in the foremost agricultural county in the world, Mr. Steffensen made in one of the conditions of a proposed partnership in farming with his employer, one year after his arrival in this country, that they immediately purchase a purebred herd sire and proceed at once to develop a purebred herd. Mr. Nielson, his employer, and the then owner of the Steffensen farm, consented and the first purebred bull was purchased."

FINE WEATHER MAKES OUTDOOR WORK EASY

New London—Gardeners made use of the excellent weather of the past few days and did work which would usually be left until spring. This is the best time for trimming of trees and shrubs, pruning away of dead wood among rose bushes and the transplanting of flowering perennials and young trees. Lawns and lawns are being mowed, and grass may be turned and the bed made ready. Saturday was almost uncomfortably warm for strenuous work outside, and many New London people have noticed the swelling buds which denote that the dormant period is interrupted and growth is again starting. Black, sick and sick have new green shoots, and on pruned trees of gardeners have noticed the swelling of new plants which measure fully three inches in length.

Farmers find this time of year of great value to them in their work of fence repairing, last minute plowing and outside work on buildings. Plowing on high lands was never better, their state, and even in the low lands the work is no longer "farming" but "fence repairing." Saturday, and though the small number of the family are among the very last of the birds to leave their winter quarters in the year is long past their usual date, gardeners and farmers are busy with their work.

Mrs. Walter H. Steffensen with the mother, grandmother and great grandmother of the animals of the Steffensen herd, Johanna Clyde Pieterse 3rd, Good Hope Holstein-Friesian Farm, Appleton. This cow was born in 1913 and was bought by the Steffensens in 1913 as a bred heifer from D. O. Mueller, Spencer, Appleton. Of this foundation cow, Mrs. Steffensen says, "She has a record of an average of 108 pounds of milk for several days testing 3.8. On her best day that week, the cows produced 112 pounds of milk. This was the state record in 1922 for seven days. Although she is a heavy producer and gives birth to a calf each year she is still nimble on her feet."

Here And There Among The Farmers--

BY W. F. WINSEY
Special Farm Writer

Loads of Christmas trees from the north are beginning to show up on the through highways in this vicinity in considerable numbers.

J. P. Laux, route 6, Appleton, is now milking 14 cows and selling the milk to a milkman for delivery to customers in Appleton. He expects to have his number of milkers increased to 26 before long. He has 28 cows in his herd including 24 purebred Holsteins and 4 grades. Because Mr. Laux is selling milk for delivery in the city, he is trying to have his herd produce a uniform quantity each day of the year. Although Mr. Laux, main line is dairymen and nearly everything raised on his farm goes to his herd he raised 50 tons of cabbage this season and stored it on his farm.

Fred Forbeck, route 6, Appleton, is dairymen with a herd of 17 grade Holstein cows, although he is now milking only 11 cows. He will soon be milking 14. He is trying to produce as much milk in summer as in winter to meet the demands of a milkman to whom he is delivering and is succeeding quite well. Mr. Forbeck is in the farm poultry business with a flock of 25 Brown Leghorn hens. He likes this breed very much as layers but they are light for marketing. His flock is in the moult now and he is not getting the usual number of eggs. In about a week's time he expects his flock to reach its regular laying standard and to make up for lost time.

John Vandervelden, route 6, Appleton, is now milking 19 grade Holstein cows and is selling to a milkman for delivery in Appleton. He says that most of the milk produced by farmers on the French road is delivered in Appleton. For this reason, the dairymen are trying to produce a fixed amount of milk each day of the year. At the peak of the milk flow in June, Mr. Vandervelden got 350 pounds of milk daily but his cows have fallen off some from that point notwithstanding his efforts.
